You will need to contact your friends and put this nightmare to rest.- Don't miss out on this limited time event to The N.E.R. Violator.- Brand new game mode in this new event!- Unlimited Power - Play as much as you want! We've heard your feedback and always made improvements to the matching system and user interface. - Now you can find PvP ratings in the battle log. - Check out how to compare clan mates' ratings in the clan interface! As always, we have improved and fixed errors. Thanks for playing and enjoying! I would really recommend this game for ages 12 and above, and the dafa is going to violence fantasy. With PvP, traditional story line tracks and really gorgeous air to earth assault play option, there are three ways to fight for survival. Traditional farm/factory etc set up with resources collected over time. Farm fuel yield for missions, factory etc. yield parts to build/equip upgrades so you don't run out of power to go running missions or gears to upgrade guns. Therefore there are built in stop places to prevent you from shooting zombies every day. This game is fun and I've lost a lot of PvP already, so my tactics need to work. He constantly asks to log on to iTunes, so he wants money but doesn't need it. You can play for a large part of the time if you play a task or two, then battle PvP and raid the base of your helicopter. For me attacking other al-Qaeda camps and their defenses using a helicopter is the most fun yet. About every 2-3 months I need a new killer game go to the time and this is the one in late 2018. Hello.We appreciate all your praise and positive comment and hope to keep having fun playing our games. Best greetings, team My.com. Left to survive is a great game. The team that provides services and updates to this game does a great job of keeping it running smooth ly as well as always having updates to keep the game fresh and exciting. Having great multiplayer play styles. If you do not enjoy PVP then you can destroy the bases with a helicopter or enjoy zombie mode. Although I've been playing for years & doing an amazing job with this game. They're constantly adding new weapons and accessories I would personally like to see new builds for bases such as new perimeter/defense weapons, mobile or parked anti-aircraft vehicles (not just people), and more space for new structures. The helicopter weapon line ever grows and love, but maybe a new helicopter line (few options), and finally maybe another mode to go along with PVP, base attacks and zombie like car building mode where you fight people or zombies as you normally do, but from within the car you can customize and upgrade over time. These are just my opinions on adding to the great game. Regardless of your preferences if you enjoy competitive, PvP or Zombie Fighting Games will not disappoint left to survive. BTW - The team is amazing in working with & responding to you if ever necessary. Thank you L.T.S team.✍ the creators of this game want so badly To spend money, a lot of it, to buy gold in order to progress in the game. The alternative is to earn points by playing game days or weeks on end to earn enough to do the weapon upgrade needed to advance. They make the option of buying gold not an option at all because prices are ridiculously high for minimum weapons upgrades and/or game progress. Top of what I've seen in any zombie apocalypse game. So the alternative is to earn enough points by playing for promotion. I've noticed recently as I've progressed and i've earned enough points to be able to upgrade almost that when the game opens the next time my scores are reduced by thousands of points. The first time it happened I wasn't sure I had got enough points. But the second time it happened I made sure to take a screenshot that showed how many points you accumulated. Though, the next time I opened my score game i've been reduced by 8,000 points or so. Wow, talk about deceptive and/or nefarious practices. It is clearly an integral part of a kind of algorithm to prevent players from progressing without buying gold at basically ridiculous prices and strings themselves from creating loyal players willing to pay for a high-quality product. Good luck in that Hello.Thank you for sharing your opinion, it is always nice to get some feedback from our players. We will certainly take your thoughts into account and do our best to make the game as comfortable and interesting as possible. Best greetings, team My.com.
