

MELANIE EWING

Melanie Ewing's been a mover and shaker since her youth in Southern California. To accommodate the explosive growth of the business she started, she moved to Alpine nine years ago with her supportive husband and four children and fell in love with the city. Melanie's decades of service include actively participating in state politics as a County Delegate, assisting people with her family history expertise, serving as PTA President, and donating countless hours to non-profit organizations. As a dynamic leader and proven performer, Melanie has led thousands of people in dozens of leadership positions.

Melanie's service includes organizing, promoting, and overseeing Alpine Days for the past three years. With her innovative, think outside of the box approach, and genuine altruistic attitude, she has turned Alpine Days into an event that honors the traditions of Alpine but has expanded to accommodate the changing population.

Melanie has a passion for improving her community and helping others with a proactive approach. She will focus on all aspects of Alpine's business development, while respecting its small town charm. Melanie's keen business acumen and exceptional persuasive skills, combined with her proven history of successful leadership, make her the perfect choice for mayor of Alpine.
