It's my second favorite holiday just for Christmas, but it has a special place in my heart because I get back-to-back goodies from my birthday and then, 24 hours later, all the goodies Halloween brings. People at DualBoot Games (creators of other live wallpapers like Celtic Garden HD) have whipped up more for us, this time all creepy and creepy, just in time for Halloween. It's called Haunted House HD, and as far as live wallpapers go, even if it's time-sensitive, it's probably one of the most detailed I've come across. From the moment you open the live wallpaper selector and choose Haunted House HD, the Halloween atmosphere will wash over you. The camera pans to the haunted house, shrouded in fog, while the lights occasionally flash and turn off. Jack-o-lanterns guard the door and scary messages appear above the door in blood. Everything is quite smooth, despite the fact that so much is happening. The doors open and close on their own while the camera sweeps back, the lights come on, revealing the silhouette in the window, and the flag on the mailbox moves up and down on its own. If you want to go inside the house, you will need to jump into the fully loaded settings menu and change the camera view. The inside of the house is just as (if not more) busy than the exterior. The lights continue to flash, the fire is pale, eerily blue, and the images have the skull overlapping over the object's face. Ethereal steps pulse and disappear on the floor, and a strange breeze boy chandler around. It's a lot, but it's still great fun. Back to the settings menu when I said loaded, I meant it. You can choose the camera view, set the name of the mailbox and door, select the kind of face you want for pumpkins, and individually enable or disable every variable that the wallpaper offers. If you feel like getting into the holiday spirit, Haunted House HD is $1.99 in the Android Market. We have more pictures and download links after the break. After a short break we are back with another collection of beautiful high definition wallpapers for your smartphones and tablets! All the images that made our list were hand picked to ensure they are both good looking as well as large and detailed enough to look sharp even on those pixel-dense displays out there! If you're not really into themes, pack icons, custom launchers and all that, sometimes a simple wallpaper switch will help you breathe fresh air into your smartphone. It's pretty much universally simple to get the deed done, and a fresh new background can really spruce things up on your home screen. This is where our regular selections of some of the best wallpapers from around the world come up! Also make sure to check out our previous wallpaper collections (related in the timeline at the end of the article), in case you missed any in recent months. Good, because it's time for the next installment of our fortnightly selection with the best new, extremely high resolution wallpapers. How high, you wonder? Well, today's biggest wallpaper is actually more than thirty-four megapixels, which is damn impressive even by the standards set out in this column. As the name suggests, they are largely aimed at the Quad HD crowd - people with a smartphone with a resolution of 1440 x 2560 or higher - but you can of course make good use of them, even if your older model is a smartphone. Whether that means 1080 x 1920 or 720 x 1280 pixels is no different, because your device automatically enlarges them and even gives them some extra glow in the process. Due to the gigantic resolution with these wallpapers, as always, we re-sized them to save time and bandwidth. So instead of loading over more than 46 MB of walls, you just have to go though a little over 1MB. If you like something, you can download the original wallpaper here. Subscribe to the newsletter!
