June 30, 2014 10 min read This story originally appeared in Business Insider With rates increasing and quality of service in decline, flying commercial these days can be an unpleasant experience. Fortunately for pilots, some airlines continue to face customers. We found the best airlines in the world to fly in economy class, and for the second year in a row Singapore Airlines has taken first place on our list. To create this annual list, we devised a classification system based on the two most important factors for a pleasant trip: a pleasant experience on the plane, and timely departure and arrival. We analyzed dozens of major international airlines flying long-haul routes, and assessed the quality of the economy-class flight experience (based on data from leading airline reviewer Skytrax) and the airline's on-time performance (based on Flightstats.com data). We combine data from the two categories to get an overall score for each airline. Ratings are 100 points. Click here to see the full methodology. Onboard experience: 75 On-time performance: 82 Although Lufthansa-owned airline has been shaken by a prolonged series of labor disputes, its high level of service appears to have remained intact. The Austrian aircraft carrier has a fleet of newly renovated Boeing 767-300ER and 777-200 long-distance aircraft departing from its Vienna base. Cheap flyers gave the Star Alliance member high ratings for their efficient and efficient service, as well as for the wealth of onboard dining and entertainment options. While the airline can provide good onboard service, it is Austria's stellar on-time performance rating of 82 that pushed it beyond many of its contemporaries to take the top spot on our list. Flight experience: 75 performance on time: 83 Another member of Lufthansa's corporate family, Swiss International Air Lines emerged in 2002 from the remains of the now defunct Swissair. The Basel-based airline employs a relatively young fleet of Airbus A330-300 and A340-300 wide-body aircraft for long-distance routes. Although some pilots found that economic comfort was lacking, most praised cabin crew for their friendly service and the airline's wide variety of complementary adult beverages. Like its corporate cousin Austrian Airlines, Swiss also differed from a crowded excess of competitors by living up to its national stereotype and publishing an excellent rating of 83 on time. In-flight experience: 77 On-time performance: 81 As the largest airline in the multimillion-dollar portfolio Desónica Richard Branson, Virgin Australia has experienced massive growth in the Asia-Pacific market since its founding in 2000. Typical virgin style, the airline's fleet of Boeing 777 and Airbus A330 long-distance aircraft is bathed in interior lighting and features a modern 9-inch touchscreen entertainment system. In-flight 77 On-time performance: 82 For more than six decades, Japan Airlines has been the benchmark for high-quality commercial air travel in Asia. Cheap flyers at Skytrax praise the Oneworld Alliance member for their attentive service, spacious seating and generous meal selections. As it has for much of its history, JAL has a long-distance fleet dominated by Boeing with the crown jewel being its large stable of 787 Dreamliners. Onboard experience: 83 on-time performance: 69 Cathay Pacific managed to receive a perfect Score from Skytrax for its onboard entertainment, and earned high ratings across the board for seat comfort, service and meals. However, Cathay was knocked down on our list by a low performance score of 69, due to congestion and erratic weather at its Hong Kong base. Onboard experience: 80 performance on time: 77 After being deemed unsafe to fly to the European Union from 2007 to 2009, Garuda Indonesia has undergone a drastic change in recent years. Indonesia's flag carrier has undertaken extensive fleet renewal and service improvement measures to regain the trust of both pilots and safety regulators. Budget flyers have delighted with the airline's comfortable seating and selection of Southeast Asian cuisine. This March, Garuda became a full member of the global Skyteam airline alliance. Flight experience: 80 performance on time: 77 Turkish Airlines is Turkey's flag carrier with a hub at Istanbul's increasingly popular travel destination. The airline breaks records with its available destinations, flying to more than 100 countries and more than 200 cities worldwide. The airline is extremely fast, a member of the Star Alliance and has won the Skytrax Award for the best airline in Europe for three consecutive years. Onboard experience: 80 On-time performance: 77 Etihad airways based in Abu Dhabi is the flag carrier of the United Arab Emirates, with its fleet of Airbus and Boeing traveling to about 96 destinations. Some of its special features include noise reduction headphones and ambient lighting in the cabin that adjusts to keep passengers well rested. Onboard experience: 75 performance on time: 89 Air Astana may be the least well-known airline on this list, but the Kazakh-flag airline has quietly carved a first-hand reputation for providing a quality on-the-fly experience along with an incredible record for on-time service. With a remarkable performance rating of 89 on time, Air Astana benefits from a combination of robust management, a young fleet of and a network consisting of less congested airports. The Almaty-based aircraft carrier relies on its fleet of 757-200 narrow body aircraft and newly refurbished 767-300ER to handle its long-distance tasks. Onboard experience: 78 On-Time Performance: 82 South African Airlines is Africa's most acclaimed airline and connects to more than 42 destinations worldwide from its Base. The Star Alliance member consistently received good scores across the Skytrax board with reviewers particularly impressed with the comfort of the airline seat and a wide selection of food and entertainment options. Onboard experience: 78 On-time performance: 82 Thai Airways has long been an industry leader for its quality service. So it's no surprise to find the Thai national airline so high on our list. Although its most advertised products are its business and first-class services, most pilots found that their economy seats are also of high quality. Skytrax's cheaps also noticed the friendly attitude of the crew and delicious dining options. However, some customers found that the lack of seat-backed personal entertainment screens on some of the fleet's oldest Airbus and Boeing aircraft was disappointing. In-flight experience: 82 On-time performance: 76 Muscat-based Oman Air is the smallest airline in the Middle East listed, but is experiencing a period of rapid growth that the airline expects to allow it to catch up with its best-known competitors. Skytrax reviewers gave the airline high ratings for its seat comfort. Oman Air's long-distance flights are handled by its fleet of Airbus A330 wide-body aircraft. Flight experience: 80 On-time performance: 80 Europe's largest airline has suffered significant budget cuts in recent years, but its overall service and quality remains exceptional. In fact, Lufthansa approaches the top of our list by receiving solid, if not spectacular, scores across the scope. For the most part, Lufthansa's long-distance service is very good, but for best results, it would be wise to target the fleet's new A380 and 748-8 Intercontinental superjumbos. In-flight experience: 78 On-Time Performance: 84 After suffering a series of tragic accidents in the late 1990s, Korean Air has rebounded to become one of the rock stars of commercial aviation. Over the past decade, the Seoul-based airline has made drastic changes to its management practices and crew resources. Korean Air flies a large long-distance fleet consisting of Boeing 747 and 777 aircraft, as well as Airbus A330 and the A380 superjumbo. Cheap flyers gave Skyteam member rave reviews for their impeccable cabins and ample legroom. Onboard experience: 82 On-time performance: 79 In the last 10 years, Dubai's Emirates has become one of the leading long distance from the world. Operating almost exclusively through its palatial hub at Dubai International Airport, the airline has the world's largest fleet of Airbus A380 super jumbos and Boeing 777 wide-bodied aircraft. Emirates' state-of-the-art onboard entertainment system includes a wide selection of video and music on demand options, and even allows live TV on some 777 aircraft equipped with the ice entertainment system. In fact, Emirates has taken home the award for the best entertainment nine years in a row. The airline now flies to more than 140 destinations on six continents, including New York, Los Angeles, Seattle, Dallas, Houston and Washington, D.C. In-Flight Experience: 83 On-Time Performance: 77 Although Malaysia Airlines' image has been hit hard in recent months due to the tragic demise of Flight 370, the airline's value in the british pound decade should not be discounted. Due to the incident and the growing financial losses, the world's most talked about airline is now in the midst of a process of turmoil in fleet management and renewal. Despite the turmoil, the airline maintains its headquarters as one of the best airlines in the world. Malaysia has consistently impressed Skytrax reviewers with its onboard experience, pocketing a perfect score on service efficiency. In-flight experience: 85 on-time performance: 78 As one of South Korea's two major airlines, Asiana stays in our No. 4 slot and maintains Skytra's five-star rating. Like Malaysia, Asiana has had to endure a wave of controversy after one of her Boeing 777s crashed landing in San Francisco last year. Although the official cause of the accident is under investigation, emergency services have piled up incredible praise for Asiana's heroic cabin crew, whose courageous and efficient performance saved the lives of countless passengers. This attentive service is reflected in Skytrax's ratings with critics who give the airline the best ratings for service efficiency and seat comfort. Onboard experience: 90:71 Qatar Airways on-time performance scored perfect for both seat comfort and in-flight entertainment. Economy class guests can enjoy features such as smartphone and tablet connectivity to their personal displays. The airline connects more than 125 destinations worldwide and is expanding its qatari services to 50 new destinations, including direct flights to Los Angeles, Miami and Dallas. While a third place on our list is nothing to mock, Qatar could have easily ended up at the top if it hadn't been for a slightly impressive 71 rating in time. Much of this can be attributed to the airline's former base of operations: the airport and outdated Doha International Airport. However, the single runway Doha International has since been closed and the airline's recent move to the new and much larger Hamad International Airport should see these ratings skyroad. Onboard experience: 85 On-Time Performance: 83 All Nippon Airways is the airline Japan's largest and home to the world's largest fleet of Boeing 787 Dreamliners. ANA attracted high praise from Skytrax critics in all areas; score close to perfect scores for cleanliness, service and safety. Many of its aircraft feature sliding-style reclining seats that increase overall privacy, as well as power and USB outlets even in the economy. In-flight 90 On-time performance: 83 This is the second year Singapore Airlines topped our list. And that's not surprising considering you won perfect scores on cabin cleanliness and condition, in-flight entertainment and service efficiency. Its outstanding service makes travel famous and enjoyable during which stewardesses are trained to treat customers with extreme care and respect. Personal TVs with many entertainment options and hot towels served before takeoff are just a few of the economic benefits. View additional airline information on Skytrax and Flightstats.com.
