To verify hours and availability, contact your business directly. We had a birthday party with a diplomat, which we remembered as a good place from the dining room maybe a year ago. The four of us shared five small plates and two desserts. The food was excellent, the service was great, and the price very... Appropriate. Dinner and dessert for four people, including seven drinks, was less than $150. We all had a lot of food. In particular, we enjoyed the children's octopus and grilled chickens from the forest (the hen from the forest is a kind of fungi). But all of us also enjoyed deviled eggs, chicken liver mousse and Wisconsin mushroom toast. Everyone had chocolate mousse for dessert. The dishes came out in perfect order for pleasure - we never had to wait too long, but didn't have to rush along with one course while another sat. Our boards and silver have been replaced without our asking (highly prized in small-plate instead). Our server, Sarah, was very good at explaining menu choices and answering questions. Beer and wine were fine. That would have been five stars, but for it was a bit hard to talk about because the music was a bit loud. We were at a high table whose chairs are not easy for them, but if we asked, we could have had a regular table. We liked being in a corner away from the noise. I'm really scratching my head over reviews that call portions small or priced high. Our experiences -- now twice -- were exactly the opposite. More
