Football fans Ira El Black/Corbis are treating to the biggest event of the year: the massive, month-long 2019 Fifa Women's World Cup, held in France, from June 7 to July 7. It's a monster match, with 52 games scheduled between 24 countries. With the U.S. women's team returning as defending champions, Americans have more reason than ever to watch the action unfold. If you're already cutting ropes and are already looking for a way to see games using a live TV streaming service, your best bet is FuboTV. Sports-centric services will stream every game of the series in 4K, and it is the only online streaming service to do so. 4K live streaming is still rare, but FuboTV has been pushing the format hard, especially for its dedicated sports channels. Last year the company launched its 4K stream beta during the 2018 Men's Soccer World Cup, and beta continues this year with women's matches. The entire 2019 French Women's World Cup will be played on Fox Sports, FS1 and FS2 in a 4k beta at Fuboutv Way. Telemundo coverage of each contest will also be available in Spanish, though not in 4K. You can check the full program here in order to stream FuboTV in 4K, you will need a subscription (obviously) and one of the company's supported 4K operating systems. Fubo will also be streaming select US dollar games at 4K this season. Sports content and 4K is a match made in TV paradise. For sports fans, the ultimate high will always be attendance at games in real life, but 4K playback is the next best thing, and they add significantly more to life like 1080p, especially when you cut in the blur effect by 60 frames per second. If you're not yet equipped with a 4K TV, now's a good time to shop. Over the past year or so, prices have dropped dramatically for the technology, with large screens (55 inches) More can be for as little as the title The image quality that surprises you. Just make sure you have a way to feed that brand new 4K screen with decent 4K content. Most 4K TVs come in with built-in apps, but we recommend you consider a 4K streaming device like Roku Streaming Wood Plus, Amazon Fire TV Stick 4K, or Apple TV 4K. Prices range from $60 to $200, but these devices can be much more than movies, and deliver TV shows, with thousands of downloadable apps and other content. We think they are well worth the extra investment. Finally, though 4K looks spectacular, its speakers are still about the same as the previous one to say, not so big. The home theater audio tape is the easiest and least costly way to improve your TV sound, and it should be upgraded for those who want to keep things simple. Editors' recommendations last updated on December 18, 2020 Wild Week night. There are entertainment sessions, sporting events, date nights, late night work calls, kids' bathroom times, TV premiers (of course), as well as there... Dinner? Trying to cram on making recipes, eating dinner (let alone enjoying a meal) and cleaning the kitchen under an hour always seemed like it would bring some kind of divine intervention. Well, let me introduce you to the power pressure cooker, aka the game-changer. The pressure cooker makes it impossible. You can create a healthy, balanced meal within under an hour from start to finish. Even decades-long dishes such as braised short ribs or whole meals such as salmon with potatoes and broccoli can be enjoyed from start to finish with a breeze on a weeknch.
