Australia are heading into the third test against India desperately looking for answers to their batting turmoil and with fingers crossing that side opener David Warner will be ready to slot back to the side in Sydney. Australia's sub-par battle in the first Test was fouled by a three-day thumping win at Adelaide Oval, but there was no hiding behind the bowler in an eight-wicket loss in Melbourne that leveled the four-Test 1-1 series. Skittled for 195 in the first innings and only reached 200 in second place due to the enriched tail-ending resistance, Australia failed to record half-century time for the first time in a home testing match since 1988 when they were beaten by a large West Indies team. Jonathan Pollard, an American jailed in the US in 1985 for spying on Israel, landed in a Jewish state on Wednesday after Washington freed him of parole state last month, Israeli media reported. The Louisville Metro Police Department has moved to extinguish the fire of two officers involved in the fatal shooting of Breonna Taylor in her apartment earlier this year. Myles Cosgrove and Detective Officer Joshua Jaynes were both informed of Tuesday's termination, their lawyers said. Both officers will respond to notice of such termination in the trial before National Police Chief Yvette Gentry, named to the role in September, on Thursday.The US Justice Department said on Tuesday it had closed its civil rights investigation into the fatal 2014 shooting by Cleveland police Rice Tamir, a 12-year-old Black youth, and no Announcement , Timothy Loehmann and Frank Garmback, of the country's charges of misconduct in the death of Rice, who was shot in a playground while holding a toy pistol capable of shooting pellets. The impersonation occurred when Loehmann, then a rookie on the Cleveland team, rolled into the park in a police cruise with Garmback at the wheel, then sprung off the vehicle and fired his gun twice at the lads within seconds, killing the boy. Both men nailed The incident is one of the rages of high-profile murders of African-Americans at the hands of U.S. law enforcement in recent years that have fueled protests provoking Black Lives oppose racial injustice. Two officers in the Rice case were sent in response to a 911 emergency call that reported the suspect with a gun near a recreational centre. But the caller's important information gives the dispatcher - that is, that the person in question was a juvenile and that the weapon should have been toyed - had never been communicated to Loehmann and his partner before they reached the scene. As a result, officials believe they are responding to a playground where an adult man has brandied a real gun on an individual, perhaps a child, said the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division in his six-page statement. Moreover, a November 2014 episode security camera video was found too grey and taken from an oversized distance to definitively detail the circumstances of the shooting, the statement said. In closing the case without bringing charges, the department said it lacked sufficient evidence to prove beyond reasonable doubt that either officers had intentionally violated the law, as opposed to making mistakes or executing poor judgments. Even though the death of Tamir Rice is tragic ... both the Civil Rights Division and the U.S. Attorney's Office concluded that this matter was not an prosecutable violation of the federal statute, the department said. While no criminal charges have been brought, the city agreed to pay $6 million to the boy's family to settle a civil rights lawsuit filed in his death in April 2016.Cuyahoga County prosecutors who had previously investigated the killing had said Rice had either intended to hand over the toy weapons he brought - an Airsoft replica from the hands of a semiautomatic .45-caliber. Airsoft usually comes with an orange end on its bin to distinguish it from a real firearm, but one Rice holds at the time not, prosecutors said. The family's attorney, Subodh Chandra, said Tamir's mother was very disappointed with the news of last Tuesday's decision. Justice for the family will prosecute officers who killed their son, Chandra said. (REUTERS) (Bloomberg) -- The dollar extended a recent decline when traders are likening the position by the end of the year. Asian stocks, U.S. and European futures are mixed amid fading prospects for greater government aid checks on individuals. Advanced stocks in Hong Kong, China and South Korea, and S&P 500 futures pointed higher. Shares retreated in Japan and Australia along with European contracts. Volumes are thin across key markets before the end of the year. Earlier, U.S. equities closed with modest decline as Senate Republicans block by Democrats to increase direct payments to individuals to $2,000 rather than $600. The small cap stock index fell nearly 2%. Treasury markers were little changed and oil rose higher. With an uncertain year to close, risk assets such as stocks, corporate bonds and Bitcoin sit not far from record highs. As investors attempt to assess the effects of the pandemic and vaccine distribution rate, the MSCI World Index of AC global stocks is set to end this year about 14% higher, having jumped nearly 68% since March low. This is an increasingly recoverable economy, policy will be accommodative for many years to come, it suggests a good background for risk assets - it doesn't mean there will be no challenges as we progress over the next few years.
