Real glitter live wallpapers

The Google Pixel 2 is shaping up to be one of the best phones of the year, and while the non-XL model may not have the most attractive hardware, both options will be hanging around with some of the best Android software products around. One of the many features shown at the October 4 announcement event was updated with live Pixel 2 wallpapers, and thanks to a developer named Pranav Pandey, you can now download them on any Android phone running 6.0 Marshmallow or higher. Last year's Pixel unveiled live earth wallpapers that moved in with your home screen to create for some extra depth, and the pixel 2's live wallpapers are taking things even further, introducing even more moving and interactive pieces. One image shows Lagos, Portugal with crashing waves on a rocky shore, while another shows balloons flying over monument valley, Utah. There are also Glimmer wallpapers that are lit when you touch your home screen, Gooley those with virtual slime that reacts and reformats yourself based on your taps and wipes, and even real-time views of Mars and the moon. If it seems that many Pixel 2 features have been ported to other phones lately, that's because they have been. The pixel 2's static wallpapers were available for download to these live ones, and at the same time, the Pixel 2 launcher and camera app were also released. The Pixel 2 is an expensive phone, and while these apps and wallpapers won't give you exactly the same experience found on Google's latest and largest, they're confident they can shut you down. You can download the live Pixel 2 wallpapers here. Update : 08/02/2019 from Computer Hope Is also called desktop background, wallpaper is an image displayed behind the graphical user interface when the user desktop is visible. This is the image, color, or pattern that you see on the OS home screen after you start your computer. In the image, you can see an example of a Microsoft Windows XP desktop with a background showing white clouds in a blue sky above a green hill. Confusion between screen savers and wallpapers Many new computer users confuse wallpaper from the screen saver, which is a moving image or animation shown when you're away from your computer. See our screen saver page for more information and related links to this term.
