Seiko Instruments Inc. (Abbreviated: SII; President, COO & Chief Financial Officer: Yukihiko Chayama; Headquarters: 1-8 Nakase, Mihama-ku, Chiba City, Chiba Prefecture; Tel: 043-211-1111) will release ic dictionary SR-H4500, electronic dictionary with two Japanese dictionaries and two useful English-Japanese dictionaries in high school students' courses. The new SR-H4500 model includes selected references to strongly support Japanese and English studies of high school students. Japanese dictionaries include Meikyo Kokugo Jiten (Taishukan's Meikyo Japanese Dictionary), which supports the use of modern languages [such as yakubusoku (dissatisfied with a person's position)*1] and selection of appropriate words [such as the use of ishi(1) (intent; purpose) and ishi(2) (will; will)*2], and Kojien of Iwanami, a useful reference for both languages and other subjects due to the treasure trove of items provided, thus allowing the use of dictionaries according to the learning application. English-Japanese dictionaries include Taishukan's Basic Genius English-Japanese Dictionary, which features phonetic representation in the form of katakana and illustrated explanations, making it easy to understand words for beginners, and Taishukan's Genius English-Japanese Dictionary, a dictionary well supported by many high school students with a wide variety of entries. The new dictionary also includes dictionaries such as Maipedia (My Encyclopedia), a useful encyclopedia with topics such as physics, chemistry and geography, and Sanseido's Zenyaku Dokkai Kogo Jiten (Complete Translation Dictionary and Classical Japanese Reading) designed for Japanese classics starting high school, thus supporting learning from all angles. Functionally, Meikyo Kokugo Jiten (Meikyo Japanese Dictionary) is provided with two search features (displaying the group of meanings and searching for the meaning). The dictionary can also be used as a thesaurus dictionary, allowing users to increase their vocabulary with words of similar significance. The dictionary is also provided with a name registration function for theft prevention. Equipped with SII kaiteki's unique computer touch specification, which makes keyboard typing easier, the dictionary can be used for free by high school students of the PC generation. SR-H4500 is an electronic dictionary that assists in the preparation, review and course of high school students. The newly released model is an environmentally friendly product (green product) certified in accordance with SII company standards in accordance with ISO 14021 Environmental Label Type II (self-declared environmental requirements). *1. yakubusoku: use that refers to lack of ability or skill as in the sentence, Yakubusoku desu ga, isshokenmei tsumomemasu. (I'm yakubusoku, but I work hard.) inaccurate. *2. ishi(1), ishi(2): ishi(2) is widely used in general, especially in psychology, philosophy and grammar. In the legal context, ishi(1) is used exclusively. While ishi(2) and ishi(1) are generally the same in terms of intentions and desires, in recent years the word tends to be written as ishi(2) when the writer wants to emphasize an individual's enthusiastic desire (although ishi(1) is also often seen in the same context), and ishi (1) in the context of a simple intention, public opinion or group.
