Ingredients 2 Fuji apples, peeled, cored, 1/4 inch dice (2 cups) 3/4 cup raspberries 2 tablespoons light brown sugar, lightly packed 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, plus 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon pinch kosher saltJuice or cider 1-1/2 teaspoons cornstachi 1 teaspoon water (slurry) 1 package (2 rounds) refrigerated pie crust 1 tablespoon egg yolk 1 teaspoon water (egg wash) direction In a medium saucepan, mix apples, raspberries, sugar, cinnamon, salt, apple juice or cider. Simmer over medium heat, cover and reduce to low heat. Cook about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, until the apples begin to soften but still keep their shape. Add slurry to the filling mixture. Turn to medium heat and simmer for 1-2 minutes until thickened. Remove from heat and chill to room temperature. While the filling is cooling, expand the crust of the pie. Use a cookie cutter to cut the dough into 4-inch circles and reroll the scraps if necessary. 12 circles are required. Place 1 tablespoon of filling in the center of each circle. Brush the edges of the dough with water, fold the dough in half over the filling, press to seal. Do not overfill. Use a fork to crimp sealed edges. Lightly wash the eggs to polish the pie and use the tip of the paring knife to pierce two small slits over each pie. Sprinkle the tops with sugar. Preheat the KRUPS air fryer to 320°F, add the pie to 6 layers at a time and bake for 15 minutes until the tops are golden brown. (Refrigerate the uncooked pie so that the dough doesn't become too soft.) Remove to a wire rack to cool. Repeat and enjoy the rest of the pies!
