Michigan Golf Course Review Marywood Golf Club in Battle Creek, was founded in 1926. The course was designed by Maurice McCarthy who used rolling wooded terrain to produce natural challenges. With prices topping out at $32 for 18 holes on weekends and holidays, the value of golf experience is about as good as it gets on a public course. The distance marking system consists of colored plates in the middle of the fairways from distances of 100, 150 and 200 meters to the greens center as well as 150 yard stakes off to the side of the fairways. Golfers should aim for the middle of smaller size put surfaces at Marywood, as pin placement information is not provided. There are four sets of tee boxes at Marywood. The two men's tee boxes play to distances and slopes measuring 6,710 yards/132 slope, and 6,418 yards/129 slope. The women's tees play to 5,391 yards/127 rushing, and 5,041 with a slope of 126 from the front. There is not much difference in length or slope between the blue (back) tees and white tees for men that will challenge average and high handicap golfers. For the ladies' there is a decent advantage from the red (forward) tees even if it is not indicated by the slopes. Sand features come into play often near landing zones or greenside, with 67 bunkers placed about the layout. Six holes have water hazards to be carried off the tee or avoided on the approach. The terrain is mounded and some of the fairways slope from side to side causes challenging and uneven lies. Most putting surfaces are well protected by bunkers and mounding, and those with nothing blocking the approach slope from back to front or side to side cause harder putting conditions. The training facilities include a targeted grass field, and a great exercise to put green. The clubhouse has a pro shop with essentials available for sale, and a bar/grill serving lunch merchandise every day. The scorecards have large hole charts so golfers can plan each shot before going up to the ball. Course conditions had deteriorated. Friend said making a comeback gives it a chance. We did. This is old style country club course requires some shots making. It starts as brute in the first 5 holes. Par 5 good shots can hit the water to the right, then 455 brute off pa4, #4 uphill 210 par 3 and then down log par 4 dog legs right. The Greens have significant slope as the result green pace is slower. If there were no balls would roll back to your feet. Still some work to do on sand traps, but come together. I'd play again. The course is a very nice layout and very cheap for a round. We golf here quite often and expect to register as a member next year. Good price for a senior. Pair of long Par 4s make this a difficult course. A little overpriced, but a nice challenge. Page 2 17508 courses | 1065922 Reviews Gj.sn. Off-Course Facilities Gj.sn. Value for money Gj.sn.
