By Emily McNair Chat room flood is a spam ad that is often used by automated robots. It is typical to come across such practices in chat rooms, especially those associated with large sites such as AOL. Flooding chat rooms has long been considered an inappropriate netiquette and can lead to a bot or user being denied from the room; a notification to the user's ISP can also be made as a result of the flooding of the chat room. Download third-party software. Many bot software is available online for a minimal price or even free of charge. Download and install the software according to the included readme file. Select the chat group or rooms you want to fill. Create a user name if logon is required. Join the chat channel and launch third-party software. Now configure the software to preset the message that you want to fill into the chat room. Do this according to software policies. Follow the instructions in the Software Readme file to enable the software to flood the chat room. BuzzFeed Daily newsletter lets you keep up with the latest daily buzz! messaging app just to find out that your friends aren't available for conversation? Lucky for you, we've compiled a list of the best places you can meet and chat with new friends. Whether you want to chat with friends locally, look for love or romance, discuss news or sports, or even exchange recipes, you can certainly find all this and more using the following messaging platforms: Twitch originally became known as a place for video game enthusiasts to meet, chat and watch talented players compete against each other. However, the Amazon-owned video platform has expanded to other categories from the start. Twitch Creative is a place where you can connect with people with similar interests, and there's an amazing selection of options available. Whether your jam is cooking, sewing, writing, computer programming or painting, Twitch has a community of like-minded people you can connect with. Twitch offers a very entertaining experience that allows the user to watch someone practice their craft (for example, cooking a recipe) and chat through a robust and easy-to-use chat interface with other viewers. It's brilliant: watch as experts and enthusiasts hone their skills and connect with others. Twitch is free – although in many cases you also have the option to donate or subscribe to content who send shipments on the service. The platform is available both online and on mobile devices. Check out our Twitch Guide and visit Twitch.tv sign up. Want to make new friends either locally or around the world, for new friendships and maybe for socializing? Badoo could be a platform for you. Available online and on mobile devices, Badoo is a free service that connects users around the world. Although it's primarily a dating app, you have the option to determine what you're there - make new friends, chat or socialize. The service has a near feature that allows you to find new friends in your area if you so wish. Badoo also has a global audience, so you can potentially meet new friends from around the world. The service is free, but there are superpowers that can be purchased for Badoo credits (which you buy) that allow you to get extra exposure to potential new friends. Report to the Badoo.com. Rawr Messenger is a relatively new app that allows you to chat through a 3D avatar on your mobile device. That's pretty cool! Download and open the app, and you'll be presented with an avatar that can be customized with a huge range of options – everything from body shape to eye color to shoes – and then start a conversation. The app offers the ability to connect with friends on Facebook or invite friends directly, but also offers the opportunity to chat with new friends. After downloading and installing the app, tap the message icon in the upper-right corner of the screen, then tap Globetrotter. Your avatar appears, and when people become available, they come into the scene and you can chat with them. Possible scenes include a beach, café or nightclub. Type the hashtag and environment you want to change (example: #cafe). Rawr is a free service, but there is the ability to buy items in the mall that allow you to further customize your avatar. Check out our rawr download in our article on the future of messaging apps and visit Rawr Messenger to download the app and set up your avatar! ICQ was one of the earliest chat platforms launched in 1996. It was bought by AOL and became famous for group chatting in the early days of the Internet. The platform continues to thrive as a popular place to make new friends and host a variety of free chat rooms that cover common interests such as location, language and fun pop trends like Pokémon. Chat rooms are a fun way to meet new people from all over the world. Like anything you do online, use chat rooms with caution and be sure to use extreme judgment to share your personal information or exact location with anyone online or through the mobile app. Be careful and enjoy your conversation! In the slightly scary adults-only rooms, which mostly belonged to our parents or grandparents and their friends, you'll often find plastic protected sofas, brittle accent pieces, white carpets and lots and lots of upholstery. Very few of these fancy living quarters offered a lot of comfort (or fun actually!) to anyone. Perhaps because of this, a recent survey found that official living rooms were one of the most wasted spaces in homes, with the majority of people saying they had spent very little time in a great space compared to other rooms. We discussed with a group of interior design experts tips on how to design your official living space in the home area where you really want to spend time. 01/09 One of the trademark design elements of formal living rooms of the past is suitable furniture, points out Stitchroom's Ella Hall. You know the look – sofas, chairs and coffee tables in an entire room that look like they were bought as a set. Don't follow the rule that everything has to match, he encourages. Mix styles, textures and colors to create variety. 02/09 There is no need to go and buy all the new furniture for the modernisation of the traditional official living room. Hall suggests you start with what you have and upholster vintage pieces with fresh new fabric. If you start from scratch, this can also be a money-saving tactic, as you can collect great songs that need a little love on the cheap. 03/09 Art can seriously change the tone of any living space. Hall suggests using your formal living room as a place to showcase impactful art that can be switched from season to season. In addition, if your furniture is on the traditional side, a slightly more contemporary art can add a youthful twist. 04/09 Another design element in so many old school official living rooms is, well, discomfort. Our parents seemed to have uncomfortable sofas with far too formal a fabric, points out Katie Stix, IIDA, (Partner, Design Director, LEED Green Associate) at Anderson Design Studio. Hard but stylish sofas, pillows that are anything but comfortable, and rigid seating chairs are just a few of the things that come to mind. We no longer have the kind of formal spaces that make us question whether it's OK to sit or even step into a room, points out Lauren O'Donnell, designer of Build's interior.com says. 05/09 Our parents' official living rooms always seemed upholstered from end to end. Mixing materials such as adding woven or leather chairs is a great way to avoid this staunch look, suggests O'Donnell. Do not follow the rule that everything must match. Create a selection by mixing styles, textures Colors. 06 / 09 Official living rooms living rooms there also seemed to be one fundamental task: to entertain guests in a formal setting. In 2020, however, we will be much more relaxed than the former generations, and functionality will be key. Living space is an important part of the home, but definitely serves a different purpose these days because it is a more used and functional space, O'Donnell points out. You want a living room in your home to entertain guests, lounging and even dining, it's formal but relaxed enough to be inviting. 07/09 When designing a formal living space, it can be tempting to go with eye-catching upholstered furniture. However, O'Donnell suggests resisting the need to order a zebra printing sofa and instead save Scalandre for pillows. I always say stick to neutral solid mixes versus patterns for upholstery pieces and then put on chairs and sofas with textured pillows or use a textured carpet and textured throws, he says. 08/09 The purpose of the official living room is to gather friends and family for socialising. It just makes sense for your furniture to encourage interaction. Stix suggests seating that promotes conversation, such as two sofas facing each other, or four chairs with a center table or ottoman. 09/09 Stix points out that our parents' formal living room was always in front of the house, completely cut off from other rooms. If possible, look for a formal living space in the active space, he suggests. If the living room is next to the kitchen, where everyone seems to gather, it allows the stream of conversation and the home to feel more connected.
