After looking most of the control for most of the game, the team saved phil Neville, who was fended off by some fine Lee Alexander saves and finished two tries offside, then a nervous finish after Claire Emslie pulled a goal back with 11 minutes remaining. The Lionesses now know that a win against Argentina on Friday will secure their place in the knockout phase with Neville's side Heave favourites in Le Havre. The Fifa Women's World Cup officially began on Friday 7 June with host France thrashing South Korea.The group stage runs until 20 June with the knockout phase starting on 22 June. The final is scheduled to take place on Sunday, July 7, at Parc Olympique Lyonnais. BBC One, 5pm v Argentina | Friday, 14 June. BBC One, 8pm v Japan | Wednesday 19 June. BBC One, 8pm Who are England's main rivals? The pressure will be on the hosts to deliver. French football has long dominated the club game in Europe, although this success has not yet translated to the international stage. Eight players from European champions Lyon are in the squad, including striker Eugénie Le Sommer, and could be in line for a first World Cup in the future. Their 2011 quarter-final exit against Japan was a big shock and they were eliminated by eventual usa in the 2015 semi-finals. Won gold at the 2016 Olympics and hasn't lost a game since March 2018. Their rivals should be wareisered. The champions have had a mixed time since lifting the trophy four years ago. They were eliminated in the quarter-finals of the Olympic Games in Sweden in 2016 and handed over their No.1 to Germany a year later. However, they seem to be ready for footy again. They have never been worse than third in a World Cup and have gone all the way all the way. Alex Morgan and Megan Rapinoe will be the key.
