Conquest of planet earth expansion

'Conquer planet Earth: Extended Apocalypse'. You will receive two alternative image ad cards with your order. The a apocalypse expansion for the conquest of Planet Earth™ which saw the fight for Earth continue, escalated in scale as more alien species were sent to the planet to take on the growing resistance of stubborn human defenders. Includes some new alien races to play (such as the feared Selenian Sirens, or the Mars Alliance with their packed tactics), a new deck of coastal resistance for humans (filled with battleships, submarines, and naval jet fighters), and the amazing power of the fearful Apocalypse Cube™ - messenger of Armageddon. Apocalypse™also adds new cards to all original cards and includes multiple discs and boards to expand the number of players to 5-6 players. Conquering Planet Earth, Space Alien Game is a fast-paced game of terrifying alien invaders, useless human resistance, and SciFi movie action of 50. Each player takes on the role of a different alien race, all parts of the same invasion fleet, but each has their own unique abilities and ambitions. Command waves of Flying Saucers to blast human resistance into the process with Death Rays and terrifying weapons of war as you unleash powerful alien technology on Earth (and other alien races if they get in your way). But be careful; pitiful people are not self-defense. They will fight to the end to defend their planet, backed by countless army 1000 soldiers, powerful human heroes, and their deadliest new weapon, the feared Atomic Bomb. With a modular game table, 10 different alien races to play (such as Orzax, masters of technology; or Venezian Matriarchy, beautiful but deadly space amazons), a variety of human resistance to combat, and four types of games - Competition, Cooperatives, Team Games and Solo Play. Conquer planet Earth is a strategy game of manoly, backstabbing, and great battles for alien conquests. © Flying Frog Productions images 11 of the 11 gamers find this useful May 8, 2014 An Essential Expansion Flying Frog Productions' Conquer planet Earth: Apocalypse does everything a good game extension should do: include additional content and introduce a few new mechanisms. Player-wise content achieved: 4 additional playable alien races (raising the total number of races to 14), some new cards for the Event, Location, Space Tools, and Resistance cards along with the new Navy Resistance card set. The real stars of the show are the new bronze landscapes, both are beautifully designed, bringing unique abilities to the battlefield. Miniature Highlights is said to be the Borg-inspired Apocalypse Cube, which towers above all others and has a whopping 10 points of strength. In addition, the expansion of 2 sets of board space and pieces of players, players, the maximum number of players is up to 6. The game originally revolved around dealing with human ground forces, but as proposed in box art, human naval power participates in this war. This is shown in the new Naval Resistance deck, which has a difficult scale from Marine Infantry to aircraft carriers and even includes a variant of the infamous Captain Fantastic superhero card. The naval deck even includes its own heroes, supports human resistance and often makes life worse for alien players. A few of the beefier navy resistances are represented further by cards that force players to fight them twice but count as trophies once they are defeated. It remains to be seen how additional content affects the game balance in a relatively unbalanced game. All the additions in Apocalypse serve to make an already great game even better; a determination to buy for fans of the basic game.
