Amazon alexa shower speaker

© 1996-2015 Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates © 1996-2015, Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates An Echo Dot works best in the bathroom. The James Martin/CNET Bathroom may be the last place you can think of placing an Amazon Echo – you’re usually busy showering or brushing your teeth, and the home area is filled with germs and bacteria. However, you may find it convenient to have Alexa in the bathroom. For example, when you notice that you have little soap or shampoo, you can immediately tell Alexa to order More. You can also play music or podcasts as you prepare in the morning instead of wasting your phone’s battery life. The trick is to figure out the best place to put your Amazon Echo device ($34 at Amazon) – not too close to the toilet and nowhere near running water. So read on to find out where in the bathroom to put the speaker and all the benefits of having Alexa in the bathroom. Read more: The best cheap Alexa devices for 2020. Taylor Martin/CNET Where to put The Echo The first step of putting Alexa in the bathroom is trying to figure out where to put it. You definitely don’t want it near the toilet because of all the germs that persisted in this area. I also don’t put it in the sink or near the shower because you don’t want to risk getting the speaker wet. So where can you put your Echo device? The best option is to mount it on a wall or ceiling with a sticky stripe or nail (if possible). Before installing the cable, make sure that the cable is within range of the outlet (or extension cord). Another option would be to place it on a wall shelf or vanity without a sink. Note that if you decide to mount it on a wall, it’s best to use a smaller speaker such as echo dot.Read more: Best shower head 2020 Order items on which you have a low facelet - just remember that you need shampoo when you’re in the shower. But if you have an Echo in the bathroom, you can tell Alexa to order it. First, make sure voice purchase is turned on in the Alexa app (go to settings > account settings > voice purchase and turn on Voice Purchase). When you notice that you have little something, just tell Alexa, I would like to buy soap. You can also just tell Alexa to add products to your shopping list if you plan to go to the store later. See all photos +5 More Listen to music and podcastsYo you can listen to music on your phone while you're in the shower, but what happens when a song appears that you don't like? Chances are you'll use your wet hand to touch the skip in the playlist, but anything can go wrong. With echo speaker in the bathroom, you don't have to worry about it. You can Say Alexa, skip to go to the next song. You can also quickly request a specific song that you want (as long as you have prime or other premium music service). Set timers or remindersIf you have several people in the house that share a bathroom, set clocks and reminders to prevent quarrels, whose turn is to use the shower. Give each person an agreed amount of time in the bathroom - say, 30 minutes - and when the clock goes off, their time in the bathroom is over. If you’re using a reminder, just say something like Alexa, remind Sara in 30 minutes that her time is in the bathroom. Use echo in the bathroom to take notes, set reminders and more. Ry Crist/CNET Take (digital) notesSome of the best ideas come to you when you’re in the shower. So instead of forgetting them, tell Alexa to remember them. Just say Alexa, make a note, and the voice assistant will ask you what you want to make a note of. When you’re ready to hear what you’ve asked Alexa to take notes for, just tell Alexa, read my notes. Aqua Dew Prototype product review We’re happy to offer the Kickstarter community the first chance to get Aqua Dew at a great price. We are very proud that we can product, hoping to make everyday tasks easier than ever. Our historyIn the last 3 years, Wasserstein has developed countless smart home accessories for Nest, Arlo, Echo and Google Home. Now we are pleased to present our most ambitious product - Aqua Dew. How did the idea turn into a product? We love Alexa and love spending time in the shower. I’ve had one of these cheap Bluetooth shower speakers for years and really enjoyed it. However, after experiencing Alexa’s hassle-free interactivity – I found the bluetooth shower speaker cumbersome (I had to pick up a song before going to the shower) and had no way to change it when I was in the shower – so I opted for the world’s first Alexa far-field speaker in the shower. Since eureka, our team has been working hard to create the world’s most versatile Alexa smart speaker. Our timeline chris maiwald - Founder of German citizen, Chris moved to the UK at the age of 19 to attend university. After years working in the financial sector in London and Zurich, he moved to Hong Kong three years ago and founded Wasserstein. Aqua Dew is by far the company’s most ambitious product. Chris is obviously proud of the blow. German Chan – Product Manager With solid experience in product engineering and development, German has been working in the e-commerce sector for over five years. Delighted with innovative technology, he actively participated in the design and engineering process of Aqua Dew.Jack So – e-Commerce & Digital Marketing Manager Jack never thought he would get the chance to participate in a Kickstarter campaign. Among friends is always the first to try new high-tech products. And this time, he’s more than excited because he’s part of the people behind the world’s first waterproof Alexa speaker! Ed Cheng- Business Development ManagerEd has diverse experience in business development and sales. He’s excited about launching the Aqua Dew campaign and can’t wait to bring this amazing product to big-box retail. People say!
