All you need is patience, patience and perseverance. My Singing Monster is a game in which you have to breed monsters that make music. Your goal is to help the monsters solve their voices – an unusual game for your phone. So the game asks the player to take care of those monsters who like to sing and play on a small island. The game begins like any other farmhouse style game, with the birth of insignificant creatures to take care of. Only, instead of a farm, they are on an island in the sky. In the beginning, you buy the monsters and place them in Scenario. Then something strange happens. The monsters keep up with the background music and raise them with their sounds. For the monsters to grow and improve their artistic abilities, you need to feed and raise them in the best way. They are located on an island, uninhabited, quiet and covered with vegetation. It is where the first monster we will place on this island in. The baby monster makes music with an instrument, his mouth or part of his body. There are over a hundred types of monsters that have their musical phrases. Some are percussion, others stringed instruments or even singers, and there are also DJs! You will understand the more we add different monsters on our island, the more complex the song will be. It's up to you to compose your song with the creatures you like! Monsters are obtained by buying them on the display case with coins, or by reproduction between several monsters. To create new species, all you have to do is try a variety of monster combinations! Once placed on an island, the monsters collect coins over time, and you can manage to buy unknown monsters and buildings that enhance your monster's luck and even make all kinds of candy for feeding. Like many free-to-play games on the phone, there is the possibility to buy coins to gain speed, but you will find that not required in My Singing Monsters. You just have to be patient, as every action has to be done in real time (create cake, wait for the egg to hatch between two monsters after reproduction, etc.) You can create an inclusive environment for your monsters: bakeries, trees, objects that improve their performance. By creating all these spaces for our creatures, you will gain levels, and it will allow you to unlock new islands that will contain exclusive monsters, and a new song! Therefore, each monster has a musical phrase that depends on the island on which they place it beforehand! These can also rise, and the higher their level, the more coins you will collect.
