Throwing knife warzone damage

For similar weapons, see Tomahawk, Combat Axe, Push Dagger, Hypno Knife and Bio Spike. Top of stealth and precision, throwing knife kills immediately on contact. - Call of Duty ELITE description The Throwing Knife is an equipment element in Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 2, Call of Duty: Black Ops (Nintendo DS), Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3, Call of Duty Online, Call of Duty: Ghosts, Call of Duty: WWII and Call of Duty : Modern Warfare, as well as the infected and all or nothing modes of Call of Duty : Infinite Warfare. The Throwing Knife also makes a brief appearance in Call of Duty: Black Ops, Call of Duty: Black Ops II, and Call of Duty: Black Ops III. Modern Warfare 2: Ghost[edit] Simon Riley uses the Throwing Knife to injure Manuel Roba at his home in Mexico. Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 2[edit] Campaign[edit] The Throwing Knife is seen only once in the campaign, at the end of Endgame, where John Soap MacTavish uses it to kill General Shepherd. However, it uses a model other than the multiplayer version; Rather, it looks like Combat Knife. Multiplayer[edit] In multiplayer, the Throwing Knife is unlocked as level 7 equipment. It deals with the same damage as the usual Knife; it's always a one-hit-kill unless in a private battle with health set to double. It also bypasses the Last Stand or Final Stand and immediately kills the player, just like the Knife. Players will only receive a knife; However, any thrown knife can be retrieved, regardless of who threw it, provided that the player has chosen the throwing knife as equipment. It can also be replenished with Scavenger. After throwing the knife, a number of incidents can happen: The knife hits an enemy player, scores a kill and leaves the knife in the body. The knife hits a friendly player, without injury, but leaves the knife embedded in the body, unless on Hardcore game modes, where the injury will be handed out back to the thrower or cause a Team Kill. The knife hits the ground at a certain angle, causing it to clap to a stop, where it can be retrieved. The knife becomes embedded in a surface (walls, etc.) from which it can be retrieved. The knife hits any surface at a certain angle, causing it to ricochet (as with the Grenade Launcher) and turn several extra feet. In this case, the knife is still deadly and can kill, provided it does not stop moving. [1] The throwing knife is popular among stealth classes as it is quiet, gives no warning (unlike grenades), and even if the player misses, there is a good chance the target will not notice (unless they see the knife go right past or they hear it ricochet). However, it has a short effective range, as it quickly descends towards the ground the longer it is thrown. Thus, in longer areas it is necessary to aim over the target in order for it to be thrown exactly. It The knife is considered one of the most difficult weapons to master because it requires practice to aim at targets and throw it, usually in a quick succession and during movement. During mission WMD, before approaching the main control room, Grigori Weaver opens a door and is immediately met with an enemy. Weaver continues to throw a throwing knife at the soldier, piercing his neck, immediately killing him. Weaver then retrieves his knife. It is The Throwing Knife's only appearance in the entire game, as it is essentially replaced by Tomahawk in multiplayer. Gallery[edit] Call of Duty: Black Ops (Nintendo DS)[edit] Throwing knives appear in Call of Duty: Black Ops (Nintendo DS), first discovered in the launch trailer. Unlike the consoles, this DS throwing knife is used by converting the player's own knife into a varied weapon, via the ADS button. It also has unlimited ammunition, so recovering lost knives and losing a melee weapon is not a problem. The throwing knife is always a one hit kill, except in zombie mode, where there is a three hit kill. The throwing knife is available in the promotion and multiplayer for the player's use, available from the start as part of the knife. As in the consoles, ds throw knife can also ricochet and bounce on/off objects or surfaces and still get killing. But the only elements the knife can get stuck in are enemies and other targets, as it ricochets off everything else. In Zombies, it's unlocked from the standard and kills a zombie in three hits in the body or one headshot on all areas, making a good and effective weapon to collect points on early rounds. Interestingly, it gives 410 points per headshot on the first round, but adds 50 points each round it passes, giving 460 and 510 points on the second and third rounds respectively, and so on. Add a photo to this Gallery Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3[edit] Campaign[edit] The Throwing Knife makes several minor appearances throughout the campaign. It appears in the mission, Prolog, where it appears in a flashback of Soap killing Shepherd with one, and in the mission, Down the Rabbit Hole, where Sandman can be seen using one to kill an Inner Circle soldier while Price drags Yuri to the helicopter. Multiplayer[edit] The Throwing Knife returns in Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3. It is seen being used in the Multiplayer World Premiere Trailer. It is unlocked at level 5 and is virtually unchanged from Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 2. Also, unlike all other equipment, Scavenger can fill knives. Quickdraw is extremely recommended, as the Pro version will tactical and lethal equipment to be deployed faster. The Throwing Knife is ideal for stealth, as it gives no warning and deals immediate death. There is also something effective for killing Juggernauts if you have Scavenger, as four hits with the throwing knife will kill one. Throwing knives will stay into a Riot Shield after being thrown at. The Throwing Knife is also standard Tactical for Infected players in Infected. The infected players have Quickdraw Pro as a standard advantage to allow simple kills. Later in the matches, especially when there are many infected players, it is quite difficult for the survivors to be looking out for them and avoiding the knives as at the same time. The knife is about to be thrown. But aside from graphic changes, it behaves almost identically to the Call of Duty: Black Ops (DS) variant Add an image to this Gallery Call of Duty: Black Ops II[edit] The Throwing Knife makes a brief appearance in the mission Suffer With Me in which Woods uses one to take down a guard in the process of shooting a torch gun. Killing the guard with the throwing knife is essential for a challenge in the level. Call of Duty Online[edit] The Throwing Knife returns in Call of Duty Online. Call of Duty: Ghosts[edit] 2 (with Extra Lethal; also in Hunted and Safeguard) The Throwing Knife returns in Call of Duty: Ghosts. It is used by Maniac Pointstreak, as well as on the standard loadout of Infected infected and is necessary to win gun game. It works very similarly to its predecessors. Campaign[edit] The Throwing Knife is used very briefly in the campaign at the Federation Day level. However, instead of using a regular knife, the player uses Push Dagger. Multiplayer[edit] It can be purchased in multiplayer for six Squad Points. It is useful when you are stealthy as the player can kill enemies without making much noise. The Throwing Knife is also found in the final level of Gun Game with Combat Knife. Getting a kill with the Throwing Knife wins the game. It is also used in infected players, and in Maniac pointstreak. Safeguard[edit] It can be obtained in Safeguard from Supply Drop boxes. It replaces I.E.D.s if taken. It is recommended to stick to I.E.D.s instead as they can kill multiple enemies while throwing knives can only kill one enemy at a time. Gallery[edit] Preparing to throw the knife. Add a picture to this gallery Call of Duty: Black Ops III[edit] Campaign[edit] Jacob Hendricks uses a throwing knife to a 54i soldier in the mission Revenge. Zombies[edit] Nero Blackstone uses a throwing knife to kill his wife when he preforms a magic trick during the intro of Shadows of Evil. Add an image to this Gallery Call of Duty: Infinite Warfare[edit] The Throwing Knife is only available in Infected and All Or Nothing in Call of Duty: Infinite Warfare. Infected, the infected are only allowed to use it. It is replaced by Bio Spike for use in other multiplayer modes and Zombies, where the only difference between them is that when Bio Spike hits an enemy body it provides a mini-explosion that can kill other enemies around them, and the player who threw it if close enough. Since corpses disappear faster than the knife, a knife can fall out of a corpse and still kill someone it hits on its way down. [2] On the throwing knife are the words Ryan Lastimoso, an Infinity Ward employee. At extreme angles, it is possible for the throwing knife to ricochet and cover greater distances. It is possible for a throwing knife to ricochet on the dead body (because dead bodies count as a fixed object until they fall to the ground) and score a kill. [3] It is possible for a throwing knife to penetrate the Riot Shield and hit the arm of the player using riot shield, and kill the player. Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 2[edit] Near some boxes in Skidrow is an irreparable knife stuck in a table. The metal detectors in Terminal light up when knives are thrown through them. A knife stuck through glass will be suspended in the air if 4 glasses are shot (same with C4). Originally, soldiers in each faction in multiplayer would shout Throw a knife! in their language when one was cast. [quote required] The symbol for the Throwing knife in Create-a-Class is different from the actual blade being thrown. References[edit]
