We just got a look at the brand new upcoming adidas Yeezy Boost 350 V2 from Kanye dubbed, Carbon, which is expected to arrive this fall. Kanye has expanded his 350 V2 lineup like no other. With 2019 being a monstrous year for the shoe and 2020 has begun no different, we expect many new colorways to fall throughout the rest of this year. This new Asriel iteration features a coveted black makeover all while keeping the midsole in a different shade. Black version and Cinderella were huge hits due to the wearable appearance of an all-black colorway and you've decided to give fans another new rendition that gives out a completely different vibe like its predecessors. Opting for a black and grey primeknit top that features a black midfoot stripe and braids, an aged translucent midsole encases Boost technology look that has never before been made in a 350 v2. How to choose the most accurate and standard Adidas, Nike Vans, Converse shoe size is of interest to many of you. Let's take a look at the tips and formulas measured below to find out the best shoe size. For those who already know the size of your feet, you just need to drag down to choose a shoe size that suits you. But for those who do not know the size of the legs, please prepare the following items to continue to accompany us. Piece of paper (larger than legs) Ruler Pencil (write) Wear socks / socks that you plan to wear with shoes that you need to buy step 2. Measure leg size: After walking socks you put your foot on a sheet of paper and hold firmly so that the foot doesn't move, making the size standard. Then use a brush to frame the printed legs on a sheet of paper. Step 3: Measuring length of the legs: Enter 4 points, including 2 toe points and 2 tip points with a pre-filled pen. Then use the ruler to measure the length of these two points. Step 4: Measuring the width of the foot: In addition to the length, you just need to use a ruler or measuring wire then choose a position near the tip of the toe width or the longest instability (you can see where the widest foot is taken) to make a measurement when measuring you should be in a sitting position or standing up to 2 feet. Step 5: Calculate the result to choose a shoe size: After measuring the foot, take the longest length of foot and width and calculate according to the following formula: Shoe size = N = L (foot length) + 1.5cm After the result, you can compare this result according to the shoe size in the conversion table below. Be sure in this way, you will choose the shoes that best fit your feet. For example, if you measure the length of your foot to 22.5cm, the shoe size adds another 1.5cm as a result of 24cm. Then compare the cm column in the shoe size conversion table below to find out the size of your shoe is 38 - 39 Vietnamese in size, while the UK size is 6, and the US size is 8. Be aware of when measuring shoes? You should measure the time when the leg is in the most comfortable condition, or measure in the evening nhấc được kích cỡ chuẩn xác nhất nhé. Nên đo cả 2 bàn chân nhé, vì 2 chân của chúng ta sẽ không bằng nhau do vậy mà bạn sẽ lấy kích thước chân nào dài or ad ruhng hơn.
