Charge apple pencil with ipad pro

@Groucho Fix has resolved this issue for me as well. Posted my Apple Pencil remains at 0% I tried to charge it with an adapter and lightning cord, but nothing has changed, I tried charging it in iPad Pro 10.5 and nothing it has bolted bold on the side to remind that it is charging but nothing I need to replace it so a confused message labeled as an unresolved Up Voting Response Huskyxd Down Voting Response Huskyxd posted this happened to me updating to iOS 10.3.2 and the same fix worked. Fu! You wrote a genius! Sometimes I'm so technical that I forget to try simple things. Forgetting and recovery worked like magic! Thank you! ☺ wrote the same for me as well. I was able to charge my pencil through the adapter wall only. Reconnecting on Bluetooth shows only the current state of the charge. I posted with the same problem with my Apple Pencil, and the 9.7 iPad Pro. I was able to successfully charge the pencil with a wall adapter and lightning cable. all the other fixes not seen to work. Posted I have the same question. Pencil charges only up to 5% and takes 5x amount of time to charge 1%, then it did beofre I updated. By email tim Cook's public email account and received a phone call from his office. Very nice and planned phone call with the senior engineer of the team. He called again later and said they could only help if I was running 10.2.1 rather than beta 10.3. Ordered a converter to charge off the wall, they want to hear back if the pencil charges from this so they can narrow down the search error. The post labeled as the Unresolved Up Voting Response jdl0029 Down Vote Response jdl0029 posted also with this issue after the latest beta update. Forgetting the device and re-pairing doesn't work. Posted tried suggested to fix, unlucky. Also, no charging help when connecting to your iPhone. We're going to have to find a piece of the wall charger. For an iPad Pro fan who uses Pencil daily, this is a serious problem. Posted Thanks for that! I have exactly the same problem, and the same solution worked for me. ☺ something really probably broke this in the latest update. Posted by went to charge my pencil and nothing. Charged it with my phone and watched the percentage meter move up on my iPad!! Something broke from 10.3!! Posted in the same way here, no fixes (reboot, turn off Bluetooth) Work Posted Found Fix that worked for me:1) Settings-'gt;Bluetooth2) Swipe Delete Apple Pencil paring3) Plug-in your pencil to create a new parriing problem solved. It looks like the new update clobbered the paired devices like iOS 8 did. You may have to remove all the pairs and start over.
