The term hat trick in sport is used to refer to some achievement by a player during the competition, with the feat usually involving three of something - such as goals scored - and varying according to sport. The term is believed to have originated in cricket in the 19th century, but has come to be used in many other sports, including football and hockey. There are also variations of a hat trick in football involving a player scoring three goals in certain ways, such as consecutively within the same period or hitting the ball in certain ways. Ratings As is the case with many sports, there are some informal rules regarding the use of the term hat trick in football. For example, if the game is tied after overtime and goes to a penalty shootout, the goals scored do not count towards a hat trick. Thus, a hat trick in football can occur only during regulation time, added time and extra time. Any goal scored on penalty kicks before a shootout would count towards a hat trick. Variations If a football player scores three consecutive goals in a period, it is known as a flawless hat trick. If another player from either team scores a goal between any of the other player's three goals, so all three goals are not consecutive, then it is still a hat trick but not a flawless hat trick. Another type of hat trick in football is a golden hat trick or a perfect hat trick, forcing the player to score a goal kicking with his right foot, a goal kicking with his left foot and a goal hitting the ball with his head. All three types of goals can be scored in any order. This type of hat trick requires great skill and is rarely achieved. Origin of Hat Trick The use of the term hat trick in sports is believed to have originated in 1858, when H.H. Stephenson, a cricket bowler, received a hat after successfully taking three wicker in three balls. The term is probably used more widely in hockey. When a hockey player scores a third goal in a game, many fans celebrate throwing hats on the ice. This was a particularly popular celebration in the early 20th century, when men often wore formal hats to sporting events, but it has continued into the 21st century. Drew Hallowell / Getty Images / Getty Images In football, hat trick refers to a single player making three goals in a single game. This is is sometimes called a treble. Some debate surrounds the question of who scored the first hat trick at a World Cup. The credit initially went to an Argentine player named Guillermo Stabile for a hat trick he executed during a match against Mexico on July 19 at the 1930 World Cup. However, in 2006, FIFA (Fédération Internationale de Football Association) further investigated the July 17 match between the US and Paraguay in the same year. They found that a goal that had previously been credited to Tom Florie from Team USA had been made by teammate Bert Patenaude. This brought Patenaude's goal count up to three, becoming the first player to score a hat trick in a World Cup match. For 80 years Patenaude held the record for most goals scored by a U.S. player at the World Cup.Other notable hat tricks in soccer history include the 2002 World Cup match between Germany and Saudi Arabia. German player Miroslav Klose, at the World Cup for the first time, scored three goals. He is one of only two players to have scored a World Cup hat trick using only headers (hitting the ball with his head). The youngest player to score a hat trick at a World Cup was Brazilian player Pelé, in the 1958 match between Brazil and France. Pelé was only 17 at the time. Stephen Haynes | Poughkeepsie Journal John Jay EF tops Lourdes in women's soccerJohn Jay (EF) defeated Our Lady of Lourdes 7-0 in women's soccer playoff action at John Jay High School on East Fishkill Nov. 19, 2020.WICCOPEE - His athleticism and versatility made Kayleigh McCrory a natural fit in midfield, which is where he played for most of his career since the youth league. But that versatility was also attractive last season when his team needed help on defense. All the while, however, McCrory had his heart set on a forward move. She believed her aggressiveness and offensive skills would allow her to thrive as a scorer. Unfortunately, he played the defense so well last fall, the plan was for him to start again on the back line and settle there this season. But John Jay-East Fishkill's coach, C.J. Greenwood, said: She started putting the ball in goal relentlessly in attempts about six weeks ago. McCrory admits he now wanted to prove a point. Well, point taken. The striker drew a career high with three first-half goals and the Patriots dominated in all facets Thursday for a convincing, if not surprising, 7-0 victory over Our Lady of Lourdes in a Dutch county women's soccer semifinal. I worked hard and had the opportunity to play said the junior. Having a great game like this in the playoffs is great. You love being able to contribute to the team like that. The second-seeded Patriots advanced to the finals, but the pandemic added a slight twist to what comes next. John Jay will face Beacon or Arlington in the final on Saturday, but that it was postponed Thursday after two Arlington High School students tested positive for COVID-19 hours before the game. The school was called off early and the district requested distance learning until November 30, which could have created the possibility of a loss. However, the semifinal was rescheduled for Friday. Arlington, the No.1 seed, entered the playoffs undefeated and was favored to win this tournament.► Arlington High School fired, going remote after positive TESTS of COVID► Beacon wins the thriller over Ketcham, advances to semifinals of the tournament► Elijah Hughes of Beacon selected in the NBA Draft, headed to Utah JazzIs , especially now, said Lauren Piasecki. Hopefully everyone will be fine. John Jay lost twice to Arlington in the regular season, but once Section 1 announced last month its regional playoff structure, the common belief was that these two rivals would meet again in the county final. The Patriots offered good wishes, but there is an understanding that all they can do is their part and face to whoever is in front of them. And the first opponent was down, the Patriots immediately taking control against Lourdes and running to a five-goal lead at halftime. You feel bad for the other team, McCrory said about scoring, but at the same time, it's fun when your team is playing so well. Ava Viebrock's penalty goal put John Jay on the board four minutes in, and McCrory scored two minutes later from a Meredith Angyal pass. McCrory added two more goals, all in a span of 31 minutes. She's a phenomenal player, Greenwood said. She, Ava and Delaney (Moh) above give the defenses. Kayleigh has really brought this centre forward. Left-back Mimi Smith said McCrory would have become an excellent defender, but she believes a niche was found on the other side of the field. Credit, too, goes to midfielders Kayla Klossen, Kari Horos, Erika Huston and Ratna Sharma who have been facilitators and helped the forwards shine. Mohl scored a minute before intermission to make it 5-0. Sophomore Julia Harbolic and junior Fiona Ryan scored their first goals in the second half. Elizabeth Lennane recorded the shutout of John Jay (9-2-1). Piasecki, Angyal and Smith led a defense that stifled the third-seeded Warriors, which contained even Elaina Wagner, a dynamic scorer and former teammate of the East Fishkill Soccer Club. The Patriots beat Lourdes (6-3-2) twice in the regular season, but their opener game was decided on a late goal by Viebrock. John Jay won, 4-0, in the second meeting, who could have predicted 7-0 in a semifinal? I think we were building up to that, said Smith, who is committed to Albany. Throughout the season we have improved our chemistry, and everyone has become safer, sure, our forwards. All along, the Patriots have spoken openly about their fears that the season will be reduced due to coronavirus concerns. Greenwood implored his players, and even the school community, to be careful and do everything he could to make the end of the season a possibility. More important than his record, the coach said, was that going undefeated against COVID. The team is now nearing the end of this glove and their final this weekend will conclude the autumn sports season in the Dutch. This alone is reason to be proud, they said. I give a lot of credit to our team. Piasecki said. Many of the girls stopped seeing their friends, many of us stayed at a distance, we have gone from parties. We didn't even have our (team) pasta parties. We've just been focused on getting through the season. We're almost there and I'm proud of the fact that we've done it.
