What is the list of collages offered by a diploma in petroleum engineering in Kerala? A diploma in petroleum engineering is a 3-year degree level course in petroleum engineering. Eligibility to which 10+2 is qualified with more than 33% marks in each subject. In view of the admission procedure for this course, the student is obliged to complete the 10th year of the course. Admission to large colleges offering this course is done through some national-level and private exams. The following universities and universities offering a diploma in petroleum engineering are: DPC Polytechnic College, Tamil NaduSri Rajiv Gandhi Polytechnic College, Tamil NaduNandha Polytechnic College, Tamil NaduCPCL Velalar Polytechnic College, Tamil NaduNIMS Engineering and Technology School, JaipurVELS Institute of Science, Technology and Advanced Studies, ChennaiThis is a fact that petroleum engineering is a course that is selected by several selected students who are interested in gaining more knowledge in Field. At this time, the need for oil engineers is high because it is difficult to find in this crude environment, and candidates need to be trained for this purpose, this course will allow them to design and plan new strategies to facilitate onshore production, and offshore oil, test production quantity and quality, and much more. According to sources, the average course fee for this course is within the INR of 40,000 to 1.5 Lacs. One can ask for different work profiles such as field operator, petroleum geologist, process operator, program management expert, gas service technician, and much more. Once a certain level of experience has been achieved in this area, he can expect an average wage of LACS 6 or even more. However, the possibilities for salary increases are increasing positively if an individual works abroad, because in this scenario the work profiles are in high demand.
