Manual de supervivencia zombie pelicula

Once again, the spirit of the pandemic is emerging, so-called swine flu is jumping to the front pages of all media just like bird flu did a few years ago. Although I don't want to downplay the disease, it seems that, on some people's mouths, the end of the world will come the day after tomorrow. The apocalypse is one of the moorings of the human race, it seems that we cannot spend too much time without thinking about something that will wipe out... Its author, Max Brooks, outlines detailed plans for a common citizen to survive zombies. Zombie Survival Guide also appeared on The New York Times bestseller list. [1] The contents of the Book are divided into seven chapters, plus an index. 1. The Undead: Myth and Reality In this first chapter you will find zombie qualities, like the five senses. There are also types of outbreaks and two other types of zombies (voodoo and Hollywood). It could be the case that zombies are created through voodoo as voodoo has the simplicity of controlling the human body by forcing it to kill in cold blood. On the other hand, zombies could be a simple science fiction exclusive to movies made in Hollywood. 2. Weapon Chapter 2 analyzes the types of weapons, the most astut weapon is a skin-to-hand weapon (it would be used to defend against zombies), there are also firearms Recommended not to be used to kill zombies because they would make a lot of noise and warn more zombies. Only in case of emergency or key moments it is convenient to use it. In both cases, they should be used. In important cases or defend yourself against living (bad people) who will always try to kill you and steal your food 3. Defense Chapter 3 discusses options to keep a person permanently in one place. He's focusing on staying on the move so he doesn't get hit by zombies. 4. Fleeing chapter four explores what to deal with attacks during a trip in search of Shelter 5. Attack In chapter five refers to techniques aimed at destroying zombies in the area. 6. Scenarios Chapter Six speaks of survival in a doomsday scenario, with a Class 4 outbreak fighting for humanity's survival. The tip in this section is to customize the previous sections; recommendations for surviving the siege during the Class 4 7 epidemic. Previous outbreaks Chapter comes with a documented list of zombie encounters throughout the story. The oldest entry is 60,000 BC, in Katanga, central Africa, although the author expresses doubts about its validity. Instead, evidence from Hieraconpolis, Egypt, 3000 AC was confirmed as the first example of a zombie outbreak. The most recent entry is from 2002 in Saint Thomas, U.S. Virgin Islands. The index then refers to the second World War II novel by the same author about today's zombie epidemic. The Solanum Guide attributes the zombie outbreak described to the virus known as Solanum. It is said that neither water nor air reproduces, the only means by which man becomes infected is through direct contact with the liquid, that is, through bites, in which case the virus is deadly. Solanum turns the brains of victims into a specialized organ that does not need oxygen, water or food to survive, and this causes the tissues of the organism to become toxic, but the decomposition does not stop, but microorganisms that are able to break down infected meat are very small, so the decomposition of zombies takes three to five years. In fact, the term Solanum is the definition of the taxonomic genus of plants such as potatoes, tomatoes or eggplant. Do you really know zombies, do you think you're ready for the apocalypse? Do you think a horde of zombies can't reach you at any given moment? When hordes tear down the streets you may have wanted to pay more attention, then you'll like to be more careful, but it will be, but it will be too late. First of all, you have that zombies are no longer human and that it is not possible to return it, so do not be sentimental if any loved one is infected you need to get rid of the feeling. The time your brain spent without oxygen has put it down to two functions: Feeding and chewing. These terrifying creatures do not know how to climb stairs, do not know how to press buttons and when much can stand; although this may seem somewhat favorable to you, it has a negative part... Zombies do not sleep or rest, do not require feeding for activities, let alone stopping for a bath. In addition, they respond to visual and audible stimuli, which means that loud sound can attract thousands of zombies from the area to a specific area, so when a large horde gathers they go from threat to natural disaster that could destroy them all. Zombie guide, you will have to explain that the undead together do not stop them from the wall, the river, or some natural obstacles, because they move by inertia. Let's hope you never come across the hordes, but if something like this happens to you we hope you have a bullet in your chamber. How to use the zombie survival guide So you know how to use a zombie survival guide it is essential that you consider the most important thing about it, for example that the weapon uses, such as immobilization, what it takes to survive the apocalypse, such as avoiding infection and so on. The zombie guide has to advertise how to disable walkers, it's vox populi to stop them you have to aim at the head to destroy the brain or separate the head from the body. The virus spreads through liquids, that is, you can be infected when any zombie liquid comes into contact with your blood or an open wound. In the zombie guide you have all the necessary information so that you do not continue to thicken the ranks of the army of walkers, who are doomed to roam the country until someone decides to tear them down. Learn as much as you can from a zombie survival guide, you'll never know when a horde can attack you... Where downloading zombie survival guides to be a zombie fanatic doesn't mean that We're going to give him love, that means we care about being ready in case the zombie apocalypse breaks free so we need a survival guide and one that we can get anywhere. However, we will present you with a list of 5 things you need to survive: preparation is necessary if you do not want to be part of the horde. Food package: Junk food is one that lasts a long time, gummies are foods that give you 300 calories each and many come in different flavors. Water can't: You can't live without clean water and you can't run around with a bottle, so try to have a vessel that's easy to carry during the apocalypse. First Aid Kit: Try to have something small but useful that contains the most basic drugs. Knife putty: Knives will be useful for taking down some zombies, but they are also tools to help you prepare your shelter, open a can of tuna or discover beer. Tactical crossbow: Zombies are sensitive to sounds and you won't be able to shoot right-handed and sinister without a horde of walkers following you; This weapon is silent, you can recycle the edges, and some have an ice lamp for vision in case you are not good at shooting. Shooting.
