LOL I use a black lab. My sister adopted a black sterling lab here and this is a smart dog. Indicates rabbit birds try again all birds Do not like to touch rabbits. But Owell's warming up with them. I just wish I could teach her to the trees!! - Probably the bird dog in my opinion, is the German shorthair pointer. My sound possessed one and without any training, this dog would work close and take the birds into the air. They have a sweet disposition, but they need a lot of exercise and are also hyper. Now Englishman Springer Spaniel is a great pet dog. They work close by and make a great family dog. We owned one and for me it was one of the dogs I've ever had. He was also my wife's baby. That dog went everywhere with her, but she also made a great hunting dog. The Golden Retrievers are at the top of my list, too. Remember as a kid, I took my golden out pheasant hunt. He would raise the birds and I would take them down. Champ would then chase and lie on them. I never grasped the concept of bird recovery, but it was fine with me!! Lol. All these dogs, with which I hunted, have never had real hunting training. Springer Spaniel and Golden had some classes of obedience. I highly recommend it for any dog you want to obey!! I loved my Brittany French, Apollo. He always found that birds were my best friends, we went everywhere together and enjoyed being on the boat while fishing! The day a part of me was killed, too, he died. - I loved my Brittany French, Apollo. Speaking of the French Brittany, I had the opportunity to see one while fishing in my favorite lake. This dog had a striking resemblance to the Springer Spaniel. Mostly in color, but the head and muzzle had the Breton appearance. After talking to the owner for a while, he praised this dog a lot. Great with kids and also made a great bird dog. I just wish we had a breeder who lived closer to us. Very nice looking dogs! - I've been running English setters for years. large bird dogs, even large family pets. They don't like being alone in a kennel, they're happier in the house with people. - I love my German Shorthairs, we all have a soft spot for everything you've grown I know, but the short hair like all good dogs breaks your ass to make you happy, for all my young years I've always had a pair of short female hair for pheasant and quail hunting in Nebraska and northern Missouri , but now there are no birds to talk about and I got tired of taking my guns for a :p walk: - I love my German Shorthairs, we all have a soft spot for everything you've grown I know, but the short hair like all good dogs breaks your ass to make you happy, for all my young years I've always had a pair of short female hair for pheasant and quail hunting in Nebraska and northern Missouri , but now there are no birds to talk about and I got tired of taking my guns for a walk :p: I hear you BOB!! The pheasant population has really taken a fall since the early 1980s and earlier. Remember how a child who after school and sometimes just walk a mile. My father owned a habitat of pheasants and we always marked birds. We lived on a farm in Blue Hill, Nebraska. Which was considered Pheasant Central. On the opening weekend, there were hundreds of hunters hitting the fields around Blue Hill. Hoping that the population of pheasants and quails will return. So far this this I've seen proper birds, mostly pheasants. Most of the birds I've seen are in the place where he hunts deer. Birds in the grass of ric. Bob! You should really consider going to South Dakota for a pheasant hunt. I did it once with some of my realists. Betting I saw well over 1000 birds that week we were there!! To say the bad the birds were getting sloppy, because we ended up taking home only 9 with our group. Of course we've lost a lot more. Never used any dog, which by the way, makes a world of difference!! Pheasants avoid the grasslands around Pierre South Dakot. The best pheasant hunt in the Midwest. - I had the „pleasure„ of 2 German Shorthairs. My old runt, named Jake, was rather the bird dog, he did it professionally, and this added to his natural ability. The old man fell ill and had to bury him day after Christmas last year. The current German shorthair I have, is Billy, seems to have a natural talent for quail. I didn't work much with him, but, he has a lot of excitement!! I've always liked weimereiners (sp), beautiful dogs and most look very birdy! - I'm going hunting with a Brittany. She is a good dog, still young, so she likes to play a little more than hunt, but once settled she will do well. - I hunted with brittany, germen shorthair and the best Vizsla. They're easy to train. They work closely. - I have 5 bird dogs in my lodge in Uruguay. Two setters, a Brittany, a visla and a German shorthair puppy which is a Work in Progress All are good dogs but my are Brittany and the Visla. We have a mountain bird called Perdiz which is quite abundant. Perdiz are slightly larger than Bobwhite quail and are wonderfully held for pointed dogs. Excellent delicate white meat exactly like quail. - My friend has two brittany. One who will stand by your side up to a bird bird down the other as soon as she sees a gun she's a mile away as soon as one is shot you can see her... Lol - I know you're all going to laugh at my dog Bird, but this lil dog loves to hunt doves (and squirrels). She mentions the word Bird or raises her rifle and she's in the attention and watching for it to fall. Oh yes, if you ask yourself... She's a Mini-Pinscher! 60.6 KB Views: 46 61.5 KB Views: 42 - I'm a big fan of the GSP. I always thought my last would be an GSP. Surprise, I took a Red Setter six years ago and my last one is another Red Setter! They had GSP, EP, E. Setter's. I worked with Britt, Vizlas, the Gordon couple and maybe a couple more. The Red Setters are amazing! I went all the way to Minnesota to get my Sis. Stormy Squirt Bode Sis @ 8 weeks. 20 weeks is really growing. It's going to be a good idea, I think. - My GSP also acts as an excellent fishing companion. Well, not really, just look at the birds and would like me to let it jump after them lol - Does it say What is a burd? I'd rather go fishing. - - Sis at 18 weeks. Weeks.
