Your PC may not meet the hardware requirements; perhaps you have purchased the game by mistake; maybe you played the title for an hour and just don't give up. It doesn't matter. The valve shall issue a refund on request via help.steampowered.com for any reason if the request is submitted within the specified return period and in the case of games where the name is played for less than two hours. Here's more details, but even if you're not covered by the refund terms we describe, you can in any case request a refund and we'll review it. Within a week of receiving confirmation, you will be given a full purchase refund. You will receive a refund in steam wallet funds or with the same payment method that you used to make your purchase. If for any reason Steam can't get a refund using your original payment method, your Steam Wallet will be credited with the full amount. (Some of the payment methods available Steam in your country may not start a refund of your purchase using the original payment method. Click here for a complete list.) Steam refund offer within two weeks of purchase and with less than two hours of playtime applies to games and apps in the Steam Store. Here's an overview of how refunds work with other types of purchases: Refunds for Downloadable Content (Steam Storage Content to be used in another game or application, DLC) DLC purchased from the Steam Store are refunded within fourteen days of purchase, and if the base name is played less than two hours since the purchase of DLC, until DLC has been consumed, modified, or transferred. Please note that in some cases Steam will not be able to award compensation for any third-party DLC (for example, if DLC is permanently level up to the game's nature). These exceptions will be clearly marked as non-refundable on the store's pre-purchase page. Refunds for In-game Purchases Steam will offer refunds for in-game purchases in any Valve-designed game within forty-eight hours after purchase, unless the in-game item is consumed, changed or transferred. Third-party developers will be able to enable refunds for game items with these conditions. Steam will tell you at the time of purchase if the game developer has chosen to offer refunds for the in-game item you are buying. Otherwise, in-game purchases other than Valve games are not refundable via Steam. Refunds for previously purchased sections If you previously purchased the name on Steam (and have paid for the name in advance), you can request a refund at any time before the release of that name. The standard 14-day/two-hour refund period from the game's release date is also used. Refund of the steam wallet You can request a refund for Steam Wallet funds within fourteen days of purchase, if they were purchased by Steam and if you have not used any of these funds. Renew subscriptions For some content and services, Steam offers periodic (such as monthly, annual) access, which you pay for on a regular basis. If you don't use a revolving subscription during the current billing cycle, you can request a refund within 48 hours of the original purchase or within 48 hours of any automatic renewal. Content is considered to be used if you have played games during the current billing cycle that are part of your subscription or if you have used, consumed, modified, or transferred any of the benefits or discounts included in your subscription. Please note that you can cancel an active subscription at any time by going to your account information. After you cancel, your subscription will no longer automatically renew, but you'll retain access to your subscription content and benefits until the end of the current billing cycle. Steam Hardware Hardware Refunds within the specified time period, the period may request compensation for Steam hardware and accessories purchased using Steam for any reason. You must return the hardware to us within fourteen (14) days of requesting a refund, following the instructions we give you. For step-by-step instructions on the Process of Return and Canceling Steam Hardware and Accessories, see the hardware refund policy. You may receive a full refund of refunds for bundles purchased in the Steam Store, unless none of the items included in the package have been transferred and the total service life of all the items included in the package is less than two hours. If the kit includes a gaming product or DLC that is not refundable, Steam will tell you if the entire package is refundable at check-out. Purchases made outside the steam valve cannot provide compensation for purchases made outside of Steam (e.g. CD keys or Steam Wallet cards purchased from third parties). VAC Bans If you are banned by VAC (Valve Anti-Cheat System) for the game, you lose the right to repay this game. Video content We can't offer refunds for video content on Steam (such as movies, shorts, series, episodes and tutorials) unless the video is bundled with other (non-video) refundable content. Refunds for Gifts Unsmoking gifts can be refunded during the standard 14-day/two-hour refund period. Redeemed gifts may be refunded under the same conditions if the gift recipient commences a refund. The funds used to purchase the gift will be returned to the original buyer. EU right of withdrawal For an explanation of how the EU's right of withdrawal works for Steam customers, click here. Abuse compensation is designed to eliminate the risk of purchasing names for steam, rather than as a way to get free games. If we feel that you are abusing refunds, we may stop offering them to you. We do not believe that abuse should require a refund for a name purchased just before the sale, and then immediately rebuying that name at the sale price. On page 7, the valve respects the privacy of online visitors and customers of your products and services and complies with applicable privacy laws, including, but not limited to, the California Consumer Protection Act (CCPA), the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) of the European Union and the Swiss and EU Privacy Shield regulations. 1. Definitions Wherever we speak of Personal Data in the future, we mean any information that may either identify itself as a person (Personal Identification Information) or that may indirectly connect to you by linking it to personally identifiable information. Valve also processes anonymously aggregated or ungrouped data to analyze and produce statistics related to customer habits, usage patterns, and demographics as a group or as individuals. Such anonymous data do not allow the identification of the customers to whom they relate. The valve can share anonymous data, whether aggregated or not, with third parties. Other capitalletters of this Privacy Policy have the meaning specified in the Steam Subscriber Agreement (SSA). 2. Why valve collects and processes a data valve that collects and processes Personal Data for the following reasons: (a) where necessary to provide the fully offered gaming service and to supply related Content and Services; (b) where this is necessary to comply with the legal obligations that we are subject to (e.g. our obligation to retain certain information under tax law); (c) if necessary to ensure the legitimate and legitimate interests of the Valve or a third party (e.g. the interests of our other customers), unless such interests are override by your prevailing legitimate interests and rights; or (d) if you have agreed to it. These reasons for collecting and processing Personal Data determine and limit what Personal Data we collect and how we use it (Section 3), how long we store it (section 4 below), who has access to it (section 5 below), and what rights and other control mechanisms are available to you as a user (section 6). 3. The types of data and sources we collect in point 3.1. Account master data When you create an account, Valve will collect your email address and country of residence. You also need to choose a user name and password. Providing this information is required to register the Steam user account. During the setup of your account, the account is automatically assigned a number (Steam ID) that is later used to reference your user account without directly exposing personally identifiable information about We don't require you to give or use your real name to set up a Steam user account. 3.2. Transaction and payment data To make a transaction with Steam (e.g. to purchase Subscriptions to Content and Services or to fund a steam wallet), you may need to provide payment data to Valve to enable the transaction. If you pay by credit card, you must provide valve's typical credit card information (name, address, credit card number, expiration date and security code) that the valve will process and send to your optional service provider to enable the transaction and conduct anti-fraud checks. The valve will also receive data from your payment service provider for the same reasons. 3.3. Other data that you expressly submit, we will collect and process Personal Data whenever you clearly indicate or send it as part of your contact with other Steam, such as Steam Community Forums, chat or when you provide feedback or content created by other users. This data includes: information you post, comment on, or follow in any of our Content and Services; Information sent via chat; information you provide when you request information or support from us or purchase Content and Services from us, including information necessary to process your orders with the payment merchant or, in the case of physical goods, delivery service providers; information you provide to us when participating in competitions, competitions and tournaments or responding to surveys, such as your contact information. 3.4. Use of Steam Customer and Websites We collect various information through your general interaction with the websites, Content and Services offered by Steam. The personal data we collect may include, but are not limited to, browser and device information, data collected through automated electronic interaction, and application usage data. Also, we track your process across our websites and applications to make sure that you don't have a bot and optimize our services. 3.5 Use of Games and other Subscriptions To provide you with services, we must collect, store and use various information about your activities on our Content and Services. Content-related information includes your Steam ID as well as what is commonly called game statistics. According to game statistics, we think about your game preferences, game progress, playback time, and information about the device you're using, including which operating system you're using, device settings, unique device identifiers, and crash data. 3.6. Data and cookie tracking We use Cookies, which are text files placed on your computer, and similar technologies (e.g. web beacons, pixels, ad tags, and device identifiers), help us analyze how users use our services, improve the services we offer, improve marketing, analysis, or Functionality. The use of cookies is the standard use on the Internet. Although most web browsers automatically accept cookies, the decision whether or not to accept is your decision. You can adjust your browser settings to prevent cookies from being received or to notification whenever a cookie is sent to you. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings in your browser. Managing the use of cookies for each browser is described in more detail on this Help page. However, please note that if you do, you may not be able to access the full functionality of our websites. When you visit one of our services, our servers log your IP address, which is the number that is automatically assigned to the network of your computer as part of. 3.7. Content suggestions We may process information collected in accordance with this Section 3 so that the content, products, and services displayed on the Pages of the Steam Store and in updated messages displayed when you launch The Steam Customer can be tailored to your needs and filled with relevant suggestions and offers. This is done to improve your customer experience. You can prevent your data from being processed in this way by turning off steam shop pages and Steam notifications automatically loaded in the Steam Client Settings section of the Interface. With your individual consent or where expressly permitted under the applicable e-mail marketing laws, Valve may send you marketing messages about the products and services offered by the valve to your email address. In this case, we may also use the information you collect to customize such marketing messages, and to collect information about whether you have opened such messages and what links you followed in their text. You may withdraw or withdraw your consent to receive marketing emails at any time, either by withdrawing your consent on the same page as you previously provided it or by clicking on the link to opt out of each marketing email. 3.8. Information necessary for the detection of irregularities We collect certain data that is necessary for the detection, investigation and prevention of fraud, fraud and other violations of the SSA and applicable law (Violations). These data shall be used only for the detection, investigation, prevention and, where appropriate, action of such infringements and shall be kept only within the time necessary for this purpose. If the data shows that the infringement has occurred, we will continue to store data on the establishment, implementation or defence of legal claims during the applicable statute of limitations or until the related legal case is resolved. Please note that the particular data stored for this purpose may be disclosed to you if the disclosure will jeopardise the mechanism by which we discover, investigate, investigate prevent such infringements. 4. For how long we store data We keep your information only for as long as necessary to achieve the purposes for which the information is collected and processed, or, if applicable law provides for a longer retention and retention period, for the retention and retention period specified by law. Your Personal Data will then be deleted, blocked, or anonymised as required by applicable law. In particular: if you terminate your Steam user account, your Personal Data will be marked for deletion, except to what extent legal requirements or other prevailing legal objectives determine longer storage. In some cases, Personal Data cannot be completely deleted in order to ensure consistency of the game's results or the Steam Community market. For example, your hands that affect other players' friends and the results won't be deleted; rather, your connection to these games will be permanently anonymized. Please note that the valve must retain certain transaction data in accordance with the statutory commercial and tax law for up to ten (10) years. If you withdraw your consent on which the processing of your Personal Data or your child's personal data is based, we will delete your Personal Data or your Child's Personal Data, as appropriate, to the extent that the collection and processing of Personal Data is based on withdrawn consent. If you exercise the right to object to the processing of your Personal Data, we will review your objections and delete your Personal Data, which we have processed for the purpose for which you objected without undue delay, unless there is another legal basis for processing and retaining that data, or unless applicable law requires us to retain the data. 5. Who has access to the data valve shall not sell personal data. However, we may share or provide access to each category of personal data we collect if necessary for such business purposes. 5.1 Valve and its subsidiaries may share your Personal Data with each other and use them to the extent necessary to achieve the objectives set out in Section 2 above. In the event of a reorganization, sale or merger, we may transfer Personal Data to the relevant third party in accordance with applicable law. 5.2 We may also share your Personal Data with our third-party service providers that provide customer support services related to goods, Content, and Services distributed through Steam. Your Personal Data will be used in accordance with this Privacy Policy and only to the extent necessary to provide customer support services. 5.3 In accordance with Internet standards, we may also share certain information (including your IP address and the identification of the steam content you wish to access) with our third-party network service providers who content delivery network services and games. Games. services in connection with Steam. Our content delivery network providers allow you to deliver the digital content you request, for example through Steam, through a distributed server system that delivers content to you based on your geographic location. 5.4 Google Analytics Our website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. (Google). Google Analytics uses cookies to help website operators analyze how visitors use the site. Information generated by a cookie about how visitors use the website will normally be sent to Google and stored on servers in the United States. On this website, IP anonymization is activated. The IP addresses of users visiting Steam will be abbreviated. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transferred to the Google server in the United States and truncated there. On behalf of the website operator, Google will use this information to evaluate the website for its users, to collect reports on the website's operation and to provide other services related to the operation of the website and internet use by website operators. Google doesn't associate the IP address transferred by Google Analytics with other data that Google has used. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings in your browser. However, please note that in this case you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. You can learn more about how Google Analytics collects and uses data www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners. In addition, you can prevent Google from collecting and processing how you use the website by downloading and installing the browser plugin using the following link: . 5.5 Certain data associated with your Steam user account shall be made available to other players and our partners through the Steamworks API. Anyone with this information can access this information by asking for your Steam ID. At least the national personal name you have chosen to represent you in Steam and your Avatar image is available this way as well as whether you have received a ban on cheating multiplayer game. The availability of any additional information about you can be controlled through the Steam Community user profile page; publicly available data on the profile page can be accessed automatically through the Steamworks API. In addition to publicly available information, game developers and publishers have access to certain information from the Steamworks API that directly relates to the users of the games they are running. This information includes at least your ownership of the game. Depending on what Steamworks services are implemented in the game it may also include leaderboard information, your progress in the game, achievements that you have Your multiplayer game matchmaking information, in-game items and other information necessary to run the game and provide support for it. For more information on what Steamworks services a particular game has introduced, please review your store page. Although we knowingly do not share personally identifiable information about you through the Steamworks API, such as your real name or email address, any information you share about yourself in your public Steam Profile can be accessed through the Steamworks API, including information that may make you identifiable. 5.6 The Steam community includes message boards, forums and/or chat areas where users can exchange ideas and communicate with each other. When posting a message on board, in a forum or chat area, please note that the information is made public online; so you do it at your own risk. If your Personal Data has been published on one of our community forums against your will, please use the reporting feature and the Steam Help site to request its removal. 5.7 The valve can allow you to link the steam user account to the third-party proposed account. If you agree to link accounts, Valve may collect and combine the information you authorized Valve to receive from a third party with information about your Steam User Account to the extent permitted by your consent on time. If linking accounts requires the transfer of information about your person from Valve to a third party, you will be informed before the linking and will be given the opportunity to agree to link and transfer your information. The use of third-party information is subject to the third-party privacy policy, which we encourage you to review. 5.8 Valve may release Personal Data in order to comply with court orders or laws and regulations requiring us to disclose such information. 6. Your rights and control mechanisms grant your citizens certain rights with regard to their Personal Data under the data laws of the European Economic Area, California and other territories. While other jurisdictions may have fewer statutory rights, we ensure that tools designed to exercise such rights are available to our customers worldwide. In order for you to exercise your data protection rights in a simple way, we provide a special section on the Steam Support page (Privacy Dashboard). This allows you to access your Personal Data, allows you to correct and delete it if necessary, and opposes its use where you feel necessary. To access it, log in to the Steam Support and choose the My Account -> data associated with your Steam account menu item. In most cases, you can access, manage or delete Personal Data on the Privacy Dashboard, but you can also contact the valve questions or requests through a contact person. Contact. sections 8 and 10. As a resident of the European Economic Area, you have the following rights in respect of your Personal Data: 6.1 Access rights. You have the right to access your Personal Data that we have about you, i.e. the right to request free (i) information about whether your Personal Data is stored, (ii) access to stored Personal Data and/or (iii) duplicates. You may exercise the right to access your personal data through the privacy dashboard. If the request affects the rights and freedoms of others or is manifestly unfounded or excessive, we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee (taking into account the administrative costs associated with providing information or communication or the removal of the requested action) or to refuse to act on request. 6.2. Right to rectify data If we process your Personal Data, we will endeavour to ensure that appropriate measures are taken to ensure that your Personal Data is accurate and up-to-be charged for the purposes for which it was collected. If your Personal Data is inaccurate or incomplete, you can change the information you provided through the Privacy Dashboard. 6.3. Right to erasure. You are entitled to the deletion of your personal data if the reason why we may collect them (see section 2 above) no longer exists or if there are other legal grounds for deleting them. For individual Personal Data items, please edit them using the privacy dashboard or request deletion using the Steam Support page. You can also request the deletion of your Steam user account via the Steam support page. By deleting the Steam user account, you will lose access to steam services, including steam user account, subscriptions and game-related information related to the Steam user account, and other services you use for the Steam user account. We allow you to renew your steam user account for 30 (thirty) days from the moment you request the deletion of your Steam user account. This functionality allows you not to lose your account because your account credentials have been lost or are because of hacking. During the stop period, we will be able to complete the financial and other actions that you may have initiated before sending a request to delete the Steam user account. After the grace period, the Personal Data associated with your account will be deleted in accordance with Section 4. Above. In some cases, deleting your Steam user account and consequently deleting personal data is difficult. That is, if your account has a business relationship with a valve, for example, thanks to your work as a game developer, you will only be able to delete your Steam user account after you have transferred the role to another user or dissolved the business relation. In some cases, given the complexity and number of requests, erasure of personal data may be extended for a maximum period of two months. 6.4. Right of objection. If the processing of our personal data is based on a legitimate interest under Section 6(1)(f) of the GDPR/GDPR section 2.c), you have the right to object to that processing. If you object, we will no longer process your Personal Data unless there are compelling and prevailing legitimate processing reasons as described in Article 21 gdpr; in particular where the data are necessary for the lodging, implementation or defence of legal claims. You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority. 6.5. You have the right to restrict the processing of your Personal Data under the conditions set out in Article 18 of the GDPR. 6.6. You have the right to transfer Personal Data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and you have the right to transfer this data to another controller under the conditions set out in Article 20 of the GDPR. Valve makes your Personal Data available in structured HTML format through the privacy dashboard as described above. 6.7 The right to post-mortem control of your personal data If you are subject to French data protection law, you have the right to draw up guidelines for the retention, erasure and transfer of personal data after your death in accordance with Article 40-1 of Law No 78-17 of 6 January 1978 on information, technology, data files and citizens' freedoms. 7. Children the minimum age for creating a Steam user account is 13 years. The valve will not knowingly collect Personal Data from children under this age. If certain countries apply a higher age of consent to collect personal data, the valve requires parental consent in order to be able to create a Steam user account and associated Personal Data. Valve encourages parents to instruct their children never to provide personal information when online. 8. Contact details You can contact valve data protection officer at the address below. While we review any request sent by post, please note that to combat fraud, harassment and identity theft, the only way to access, correct or delete your data is by logging in with your Steam user account and selecting menu items -> My Account -> View Account Details. Under the CCPA, you have the right to request that we disclose to you the Personal Data that we collect, use, disclose and sell. Right to request erasure. You also have the right to request the deletion of the Personal Data in our possession, subject to certain exceptions. Please note that your request to delete data may in some cases affect your use of the Steam Service and we may refuse to delete information in this Privacy Policy or for reasons permitted by the CCPA. other rights. CCPA also gives Californian citizens the right to refuse to sell their Personal Data. As described in section 5, we do not sell or do personal data within the last 12 months. You also have the right to receive or before the collection of your Personal Data. Finally, you have the right not to discriminate against the exercise of your rights under the CCPA. exercise their rights. The main means of accessing, managing, or deleting your Personal Data is the Privacy Dashboard, as described in section 6 of this Policy. Customers may also delete their Steam Account and related Personal Data as described in section 6.3 of this Privacy Policy. If you can't access or delete data through the Privacy Dashboard, you can also contact us by requesting that these rights be exercised through . To verify your identity, you'll need to log in with your Steam user account to use the form. Finally, you can contact us with a request from questions@valvesoftware.com, however, before providing access to or deleting any Personal Data based on a request received by email, we will need to verify your identity through the Proof of Ownership process described in . You may indicate in writing or by proxy an authorised representative who submits requests for your rights under the CCPA on your behalf. Before accepting such an agent's request, we will require the agent to provide evidence that you have authorised to act on your behalf, and we may need you to verify your identity directly with us. Categories, sources, objectives and recipients of the data collected. Over the past 12 months, we have collected the categories of personal data described in Section 3 of this Privacy Policy. The sources from which we collect Personal Data and the purposes for which we collect and process it are described in sections 2 and 3. During the previous 12 months, we have identified for business purposes each of the categories of Personal Data with third party categories as described in section 5. Date of revision: 28 July 2020 p. 8. 1. Definitions Wherever we speak of Personal Data in the future, we mean any information that may either identify itself as a person (Personal Identification Information) or that may indirectly connect to you by linking it to personally identifiable information. Valve also processes anonymously aggregated or ungrouped data to analyze and produce statistics related to customer habits, usage patterns, and demographics as a group or as individuals. Such anonymous data does not allow identification of the customers to whom it relates. The valve can share anonymous data, whether aggregated or not, with third parties. Other capitalletters of this Privacy Policy have the meaning specified in the Steam Subscriber Agreement (SSA). 2. Why valve collects and processes a data valve that collects and processes Personal Data for the following reasons: (a) where necessary to provide the fully offered gaming service and to supply related Content and Services; (b) where this is necessary to comply with the legal obligations that we are subject to (e.g. our obligation to retain certain information under tax law); (c) if necessary to ensure the legitimate and legitimate interests of the Valve or a third party (e.g. the interests of our other customers), unless such interests are override by your prevailing legitimate interests and rights; or (d) if you have agreed to it. These reasons for collecting and processing Personal Data determine and limit what Personal Data we collect and how we use it (Section 3), how long we store it (section 4 below), who has access to it (section 5 below), and what rights and other control mechanisms are available to you as a user (section 6). 3. The types of data and sources we collect in point 3.1. Account master data When you create an account, Valve will collect your email address and country of residence. You also need to choose a user name and password. Providing this information is required to register the Steam user account. During setting up your account, the account is automatically assigned a number (Steam ID) that is later used to reference your user account without directly subcontracting personally identifiable information about you. We don't require you to give or use your real name to set up a Steam user account. 3.2. Transaction and payment data you make a transaction with Steam (e.g. to purchase Subscriptions to Content and Services or to fund a steam wallet), you may need to provide payment data to Valve to enable the transaction. If you pay by credit card, you must provide valve's typical credit card information (name, address, credit card number, expiration date and security code) that the valve will process and send to your optional service provider to enable the transaction and conduct anti-fraud checks. The valve will also receive data from your payment service provider for the same reasons. 3.3. Other data that you expressly submit, we will collect and process Personal Data whenever you clearly indicate or send it as part of your contact with other Steam, such as Steam Community Forums, chat or when you provide feedback or content created by other users. This data includes: information you post, comment on, or follow in any of our Content and Services; Information sent through Information you provide when you request information or support from us or purchase Content and Services from us, including information necessary to process your orders with the payment merchant or, in the case of physical goods, delivery service providers; Information you provide to us when participating in competitions, competitions and tournaments or responding to surveys, such as your contact information. 3.4. Use of Steam Customer and Websites We collect various information through your general interaction with the websites, Content and Services offered by Steam. The personal data we collect may include, but are not limited to, browser and device information, data collected through automated electronic interaction, and application usage data. Also, we track your process across our websites and applications to make sure that you don't have a bot and optimize our services. 3.5 Use of Games and other Subscriptions To provide you with services, we must collect, store and use various information about your activities on our Content and Services. Content-related information includes your Steam ID as well as what is commonly called game statistics. According to game statistics, we think about your game preferences, game progress, playback time, and information about the device you're using, including which operating system you're using, device settings, unique device identifiers, and crash data. 3.6. Data and cookie tracking We use Cookies, which are text files placed on your computer, and similar technologies (such as web beacons, pixels, ad tags and device identifiers) to help us analyze how users use our services, as well as to improve the services we offer, improve marketing, analysis or website functionality. The use of cookies is the standard use on the Internet. Although most web browsers automatically accept cookies, the decision whether or not to accept is your decision. You can adjust your browser settings to prevent cookies from being received or to notification whenever a cookie is sent to you. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings in your browser. Managing the use of cookies for each browser is described in more detail on this Help page: . However, please note that if you do, you may not be able to access the full functionality of our websites. When you visit one of our services, our servers log your IP address, which is the number that is automatically assigned to the network of your computer as part of. 3.7. Content suggestions We may process information collected in accordance with this so that the content, products and services displayed on the Pages of the Steam Store and the updated messages that appear when you launch Steam Customer can be tailored to your needs and filled with recommendations and offers. This is done to improve your customer experience. You can prevent your data from being processed in this way by turning off steam shop pages and Steam notifications automatically loaded in the Steam Client Settings section of the Interface. With your individual consent or where expressly permitted under the applicable e-mail marketing laws, Valve may send you marketing messages about the products and services offered by the valve to your email address. In this case, we may also use the information you collect to customize such marketing messages, and to collect information about whether you have opened such messages and what links you followed in their text. You may withdraw or withdraw your consent to receive marketing emails at any time, either by withdrawing your consent on the same page as you previously provided it or by clicking on the link to opt out of each marketing email. 3.8. Information necessary for the detection of irregularities We collect certain data that is necessary for the detection, investigation and prevention of fraud, fraud and other violations of the SSA and applicable law (Violations). These data shall be used only for the detection, investigation, prevention and, where appropriate, action of such infringements and shall be kept only within the time necessary for that purpose. If the data shows that the infringement has occurred, we will continue to store data on the establishment, implementation or defence of legal claims during the applicable statute of limitations or until the related legal case is resolved. Please note that the particular data stored for this purpose may be disclosed to you if the disclosure undermines the mechanism by which we discover, investigate and prevent such violations. 4. For how long we store data We keep your information only for as long as necessary to achieve the purposes for which the information is collected and processed, or, if applicable law provides for a longer retention and retention period, for the retention and retention period specified by law. Your Personal Data will then be deleted, blocked, or anonymised as required by applicable law. In particular: if you terminate your Steam user account, your Personal Data will be marked for deletion, except to what extent legal requirements or other prevailing legal objectives determine longer storage. In some cases, Personal Data cannot be completely deleted in order to ensure consistency of the game's results or the Steam Community market. For example, your hands that affect other players' friends and the results won't be deleted; rather, your connection to these games will be permanently anonymized. Please note that the valve must retain certain transaction data in accordance with the statutory commercial and tax law for up to ten (10) years. you withdraw your consent on which the processing of your Personal Data or your child's Personal Data is based, we will delete your Personal Data or your Child's Personal Data, as appropriate, to the extent that the collection and processing of Personal Data is based on withdrawn consent. If you exercise the right to object to the processing of your Personal Data, we will review your objections and delete your Personal Data, which we have processed for the purpose for which you objected without undue delay, unless there is another legal basis for processing and retaining that data, or unless applicable law requires us to retain the data. 5. Who has access to the data valve shall not sell personal data. However, we may share or provide access to each category of personal data we collect if necessary for such business purposes. 5.1 Valve and its subsidiaries may share your Personal Data with each other and use them to the extent necessary to achieve the objectives set out in Section 2 above. In the event of a reorganization, sale or merger, we may transfer Personal Data to the relevant third party in accordance with applicable law. 5.2 We may also share your Personal Data with our third-party service providers that provide customer support services related to goods, Content, and Services distributed through Steam. Your Personal Data will be used in accordance with this Privacy Policy and only to the extent necessary to provide customer support services. 5.3. In accordance with Internet standards, we may also share certain information (including your IP address and the identification of the Steam content you want to access) with our third-party network service providers that provide content delivery network services and game server services in connection with Steam. Our content delivery network providers allow you to deliver the digital content you request, for example through Steam, through a distributed server system that delivers content to you based on your geographic location. 5.4 Google Analytics Our website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. (Google). Google Analytics uses cookies to help website operators analyze how visitors use the site. Information generated by a cookie about how visitors use the website will normally be sent to Google and stored on servers in the United States. On this website, IP anonymization is activated. The IP addresses of users visiting Steam will be abbreviated. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transferred to the Google server in the United States and truncated there. On behalf of the website operator, Google will use this information to evaluate the website for its users to collect reports on website and to provide other services related to the website. Action. internet usage for website operators. Google doesn't associate the IP address transferred by Google Analytics with other data that Google has used. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings in your browser. However, please note that in this case you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. You can learn more about how Google Analytics collects and uses data www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners. In addition, you can prevent Google from collecting and processing how you use the website by downloading and installing the browser plugin using the following link . 5.5. Certain data associated with your Steam user account shall be made available to other players and our partners through the Steamworks API. Anyone with this information can access this information by asking for your Steam ID. At least the national personal name you have chosen to represent you in Steam and your Avatar image is available this way as well as whether you have received a ban on cheating multiplayer game. The availability of any additional information about you can be controlled through the Steam Community user profile page; publicly available data on the profile page can be accessed automatically through the Steamworks API. In addition to publicly available information, game developers and publishers have access to certain information from the Steamworks API that directly relates to the users of the games they are running. This information includes at least your ownership of the game. Depending on what Steamworks services are implemented in the game it may also include leaderboard information, your progress in the game, achievements you've completed, your multiplayer game matchmaking information, in-game items and other information needed to run the game and provide support for it. For more information on what Steamworks services a particular game has introduced, please review your store page. Although we knowingly do not share personally identifiable information about you through the Steamworks API, such as your real name or email address, any information you share about yourself in your public Steam Profile can be accessed through the Steamworks API, including information that may make you identifiable. 5.6 The Steam community includes message boards, forums and/or chat areas where users can exchange ideas and communicate with each other. When posting a message on board, in a forum or chat area, please note that the information is made public online; so you do it at your own risk. If your Personal Data has been published on one of our community forums against your will, please use the reporting feature and the Steam Help site to request its removal. 5.7. The valve may allow you to link the steam user account to the account third party. If you agree to link accounts, Valve may collect and combine the information you authorized Valve to receive from a third party with information about your Steam User Account to the extent permitted by your consent on time. If linking accounts requires the transfer of information about your person from Valve to a third party, you will be informed before the linking and will be given the opportunity to agree to link and transfer your information. The use of third-party information is subject to the third-party privacy policy, which we encourage you to review. 5.8 Valve may release Personal Data in order to comply with court orders or laws and regulations requiring us to disclose such information. 6. Your rights and control mechanisms grant your citizens certain rights with regard to their Personal Data under the data laws of the European Economic Area, California and other territories. While other jurisdictions may have fewer statutory rights, we ensure that tools designed to exercise such rights are available to our customers worldwide. In order for you to exercise your data protection rights in a simple way, we provide a special section on the Steam Support page (Privacy Dashboard). This allows you to access your Personal Data, allows you to correct and delete it if necessary, and opposes its use where you feel necessary. To access it, log in to the Steam Support and choose the My Account -> data associated with your Steam account menu item. In most cases, you can access, manage or delete Personal Data on the Privacy Dashboard, but you can also contact the valve with questions or requests through the communication processes described in sections 8 and 10. As a resident of the European Economic Area, you have the following rights in respect of your Personal Data: 6.1 Access rights. You have the right to access your Personal Data that we have about you, i.e. the right to request free (i) information about whether your Personal Data is stored, (ii) access to stored Personal Data and/or (iii) duplicates. You may exercise the right to access your personal data through the privacy dashboard. If the request affects the rights and freedoms of others or is manifestly unfounded or excessive, we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee (taking into account the administrative costs associated with providing information or communication or the removal of the requested action) or to refuse to act on request. 6.2. Right to rectify data If we process your Personal Data, we will endeavour to ensure that appropriate measures are taken to ensure that your Personal Data is accurate and up-to-be charged for the purposes for which it was collected. If your Personal Data is inaccurate or incomplete, change the information you provided using the Panel. 6.3. Right to erasure. You are entitled to the deletion of your personal data if the reason why we may collect them (see section 2 above) no longer exists or if there are other legal grounds for deleting them. For individual Personal Data items, please edit them using the privacy dashboard or request deletion using the Steam Support page. You can also request the deletion of your Steam user account via the Steam support page. By deleting the Steam user account, you will lose access to steam services, including steam user account, subscriptions and game-related information related to the Steam user account, and other services you use for the Steam user account. We allow you to renew your steam user account for 30 (thirty) days from the moment you request the deletion of your Steam user account. This functionality allows you not to lose your account because your account credentials have been lost or are because of hacking. During the stop period, we will be able to complete the financial and other actions that you may have initiated before sending a request to delete the Steam user account. After the grace period, the Personal Data associated with your account will be deleted in accordance with Section 4. Above. In some cases, deleting your Steam user account and consequently deleting personal data is difficult. That is, if your account has a business relationship with a valve, for example, thanks to your work as a game developer, you will only be able to delete your Steam user account after you have transferred the role to another user or dissolved the business relation. In some cases, due to the complexity and number of requests, the maturity date of personal data may be extended for a maximum of two months. 6.4. Right of objection. If the processing of our personal data is based on a legitimate interest under Section 6(1)(f) of the GDPR/GDPR section 2.c), you have the right to object to that processing. If you object, we will no longer process your Personal Data unless there are compelling and prevailing legitimate processing reasons as described in Article 21 gdpr; in particular where the data are necessary for the lodging, implementation or defence of legal claims. You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority. 6.5. You have the right to restrict the processing of your Personal Data under the conditions set out in Article 18 of the GDPR. 6.6. You have the right to transfer personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and you have the right to transfer this data to another controller in accordance with the Conditions set out in Article 20 of the Agreement. Valve makes your Personal Data available in structured HTML format through the privacy dashboard as described above. 6.7 The right to post-mortem control of your personal data If you are subject to French data protection law, you have the right to draw up guidelines for the retention, erasure and transfer of personal data after your death in accordance with Article 40-1 of Law No 78-17 of 6 January 1978 on information, technology, data files and citizens' freedoms. 7. Children the minimum age for creating a Steam user account is 13 years. The valve will not knowingly collect Personal Data from children under this age. If certain countries apply a higher age of consent to collect personal data, the valve requires parental consent in order to be able to create a Steam user account and associated Personal Data. Valve encourages parents to instruct their children never to provide personal information when online. 8. Contact details You can contact valve data protection officer at the address below. While we review any request sent by post, please note that to combat fraud, harassment and identity theft, the only way to access, correct or delete your data is by logging in with your Steam user account and selecting menu items -> My Account -> View Account Details. Valve Corporation Att. Additional information for users from the European Economic Area, United Kingdom and Swiss Valve and TR Technical Services Inc., its wholly-owned US subsidiary (co-owned by Valve), is in line with the EU-US Privacy Shield System and the Swiss-US Privacy Shield System. The Privacy Shield System, as defined by the U.S. Department of Commerce, for the collection, use and retention of personal data transferred from the European Union and Switzerland to the United States. Valve has assured the Ministry of Commerce that it adheres to the principles of the Privacy Shield. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this Privacy Policy and the Privacy Shield Principles, the Privacy Shield Principles shall be governed. To learn more about the Privacy Shield program and to view our certification, please visit . In accordance with the privacy shield principles, Valve undertakes to resolve complaints about the collection or use of our personal information. Eu and Swiss individuals who have questions or complaints about our Privacy Shield Policy should first contact Valve here. If you have unresolved concerns about confidentiality or the use of data that we have not satisfactorily addressed, please contact our third-party dispute resolution provider (free of charge) . How the Privacy Shield Documentation (may be subject to binding arbitration on some remaining claims that have not been resolved by other means. In this case, you will have access to the arbitration option. The Privacy Shield principles describe the Valve's liability for Personal Data, which it then transfers to a third-party agent. In accordance with the principles, the valve is liable if third-party agents process personal information in a manner that does not comply with the principles, unless Valve proves that it is not responsible for the event that caused the damage. The Federal Trade Commission is competent to comply with the Privacy Shield. 10. Additional information for users from the California CCPA grants Californian citizens certain privacy rights with respect to the personal data we collect. We are committed to respecting these rights and respecting the CCPA. These rights and Valve's practices with regard to them are explained below. Right to know. Under the CCPA, you have the right to request that we disclose to you the Personal Data that we collect, use, disclose and sell. Right to request erasure. You also have the right to request the deletion of the Personal Data in our possession, subject to certain exceptions. Please note that your request to delete data may in some cases affect your use of the Steam Service and we may refuse to delete information in this Privacy Policy or for reasons permitted by the CCPA. other rights. CCPA also gives Californian citizens the right to refuse to sell their Personal Data. As described in section 5, we do not sell or do personal data within the last 12 months.
