Black friday discount in apple store

Best Buy runs some of the best discounts available on smart home gadgets and as Black Friday kicks in, it has added a few new ones. The retailer slashed $100 from an Apple HomePod and $50 from Google Home. Fresh deals bring Apple's HomePod up to $200 off its $300 price tag and Google Home is available for $50 instead of the usual $100 cost. Despite the fact that Apple launched the HomePod more than two years ago, it still remains one of the best sounding smart speakers on the market. Its cylindrical, fabric exterior produces balanced and loud sound through a series of seven speakers. Apple's HomePod can also feel the gaps around it and automatically adjust its output for the best listening experience. It has a total of six microphones that you can use to chat with the company's virtual voice assistant, Siri. HomePod's biggest downturn is that it is locked in apple's ecosystem. This means that it does not natively support any third-party music streaming services. So, for example, you can't directly request to play a Spotify or YouTube Music library. You'll need to be an Apple Music subscriber to enjoy this game. As a solution, you have the option to upload music from these platforms. In our Apple HomePod review, we concluded that this is strictly for Apple's most loyal customers. Google Home, on the other hand, is much more flexible. Unlike homepod, it can connect to most third party platforms out there. Starts the Google Assistant, which always listens to your commands through a pair of microphones. The smart speaker features dual 2-inch passive radiators for clear highs and rich bass. But you don't necessarily have to settle for these two. For example, if you want a smart display instead of a speaker, there are plenty of other offers you should try. In addition, you will need several smart appliances to make full use of these speakers. After that, be sure to drop by our Smart Home Black Friday deals section. We try to help our readers find the best deals on quality products and services, and we choose what we apply carefully and independently. Prices, details, and availability of products and stores in this post are subject to change at any time. Make sure they are still in effect before making a purchase. Digital trends can earn a commission for products purchased through our links, which supports the work we do for our readers. The recommendation of editor JOSH EDELSON's Black Friday 2020 is happening this week, and it's the absolutely perfect time to save on all the expensive-but-value-it items you and your loved ones have been wanting. Apple products like iPhone 12, MacBook Pro, and AirPods must land on your family's wish lists. The big question, though... Does Apple offer Black Friday and Cyber Monday Apple, the company makes its own version of Black Friday, but instead of providing steep discounts, the brand gives Apple Store customers gift cards of up to $150 when they buy eligible products. As last year, Apple will have its four-day shopping event from Black Friday November 27 to Cyber Monday, November 30: a $50 Apple Store gift card when buying an iPhone SE, iPhone 11, iPhone XR.
